BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BY EDWARD T. TUTEN.

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

POLITICAL NOTES.

—There is a growing wish on the part of decent Democrats that the Republicans may carry the State at the next election. Their laudable desires will unquestionably be granted.

—There are a few Republicans in Bellefonte who voted for W. K. Alexander, with the expectation that he would vote for the repeal of the Local Option law. He fooled them badly.

—In view of Mr. Carpenter's opposition to the Civil Right's bill, we are not half as sorry over his defeat, in his senatorial contest, as we were awhile ago. He seems to have had the courage all knocked out of him.

—The Blair County "Radical" says: that the Centre County Representatives voted for the repeal of the Local Option law. This is an error. Mr. Alexander arrived in Harrisburg, in season to vote on the third reading of the bill, and voted against the repeal.

—The notable Republican gains in the late municipal elections in this State afford great gratification and encouragement to our friends elsewhere. Of course we are glad of this. The staid old Keystone State was the last to lose and the first to recover her balance. Let other States lay the lesson of her present poise to heart.

—One of those two hotels in Alexandria which have been closed "in consequence of the passage of the Civil Rights bill," was the Jackson House, where the young patriot, Colonel Ellsworth, was murdered by the proprietor, whose name it still bears. Of course such an insult to the memory of the assassin as the measure in question involved, was not for a moment to be borne.

—More Democrats in proportion to their strength in the House voted for the Texas Pacific Railroad subsidy than Republicans, and yet, last fall, the "subsidy" cry did much towards the defeat of the latter. So did "back pay," and yet two of the most prominent Democratic candidates for the Speakership voted for "back pay," and one of them was one of three or four men who got it through.

—In the course of the recent Senate debate on the Civil Rights bill, Senator Morton said: "I am one of those who believe in the right of women to vote, and I have always believed in that." And it will come sooner or later. If women are fit to vote in town or city affairs, as they are allowed to do in some European countries, why should they be considered unfit to vote on State or national affairs here?

—The new Senate will consist of seventy-three members, there being one vacancy, that from Louisiana. The political complexion of the Senate is forty-two straight-out Republicans, two "Independent" Republicans (Booth, of California, and Christiancy, of Michigan), one "Liberal," Hamilton, of Texas, with twenty-seven regular Democrats and one "Independent" Democrat—Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee. The Republicans and Independent Republicans will have sixteen majority over all others.

—Repudiation appears to have run in the very blood of Democracy. The city of Montgomery, Alabama, has now defaulted on its bonds, the last coupon having been paid in July of last year, and no money having been forthcoming to meet the January interest. Of course this might have been done if the people had been willing to make the sacrifice which every one ought to make to preserve his credit, and keep good faith with his creditors—but that is not the usual mode of illustrating Southern Democratic honor.

—The Southern press foregoes no opportunity of flinging the failure of the Freedman's National Bank into the teeth of the Northern people. It was a deplorable relapse, and no one wishes to defend the carelessness and incompetency of those who were reponsible for it. The best freedman's bank in the country, however, is the poll, and it is historic that the Southern Democracy never scruple to break it when they get half a chance, or to tap the depositor with a rifled jimmy if he attempts to prevent the buglarious theft.

HOW THE DEMOCRACY BRING ABOUT REFORM!

The wonderful incompetency of the Democratic Speaker of the House at Harrisburg, is so plain that the press all over the State are giving him some very hard raps. The elevation of such men to offices of trust is the way the Democracy have of bringing about reform.

The following from the Philadelphia Telegraph is a fair sample of the estimation in which he is held:

"For stubborn stupidity Professor Samuel F. Patterson, whom a strange chance has raised to the Speakership of the lower House of our Legislature, deserves the leather medal of the championship. Some how this man came to Harrisburg with a high reputation as a parliamentarian. Nobody appeared to know where he had picked up his knowledge of parliamentary law and practice, and now everybody has good reason to believe that he did not pick it up anywhere. In the contest with Representative Wolfe, his utter incapacity as a presiding officer was brought into the boldest relief, and last night he gave another exhibition of his ignorance. For the time, he assumed to embody in his own individual entity the entire House, Republicans, Democrats and all. He not only interpreted the rules according to his own notion of their meaning, but refused to entertain motions that were legitimately made, and was even on the point of overruling the Constitution of the State, when he lapsed into a lucid interval and concluded to recognize the fundamental law of the Commonwealth as paramount. This lucid interval was soon over, however, and it required the unanimous vote of the House to bring Speaker Patterson back to his senses. As the Democrats have a clear majority in the House of Representatives, it is perfectly proper that they should select a Speaker from their own ranks; but in pitching upon Professor Patterson for this responsible position, they made a sad mistake. There are a great many Democrats in the House who would figure much more respectably in the Speaker's chair."

MEEK'S DUPLICITY.

By reference to the Watchman of February 12th, '75, we find under the head of "A Mean Trick," these words: "A few radical monopolists and middlemen around this town, are now trying to belittle the grangers, and to lesson their influence by asserting that the members of that organization, as such, are working to secure the election of George Washington Campbell to the Legislature, because he is a member of that order.

* * They are not to be dragged into politics by a few politicians who imagine they can use them. * * Every granger in the county should resent this insult offered their organization by radical politicians, by going to the polls and voting for W. K. Alexander."

This bit of choice demagogism on the part of the Watchman would not be worth noticing at this late date, were it not for the fact, that its editor resorted to every imaginable means on the day of the election, fair or foul, even to belittle the grangers, when it would serve his purpose, as he did in a number of cases to secure votes for his favorite candidate, W. K. Alexander. He did not hesitate to approach Republicans with all the assurance and impudence of a first class political intriguer, with any story that would have the effect to seduce men into voting for his candidate. "He is as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship or cut a throat; with such perfect manners of a gentleman."

Fortunately, however, he approached at least one man, whose common sense and good judgment would not allow him to be inveigled into such a visible trap. We allude to William Brown, Esq., the well known founder at the Bellefonte forges. Mr. Brown enjoys an enviable reputation for truth and veracity, and his word will not be questioned by those who know him, which is the best recommendation he could have.

When Mr. Brown was on his way to the polls, Meek accosted him, and the following dialogue ensued:

Meek—"Mr. Brown, I take you to be a friend of mine."

Brown—"Yes, I am."

Meek—"I desire you to vote for Alexander."

Brown—"Why would I do that? I am a Republican."

Meek—"Because Campbell is one of the most radical grangers in Centre county."

Brown—"Well, I am about half a granger myself."

Receiving this unexpected reply, Meek found that he had mistaken his man, and suddenly had occasion to look for another voter—an anti-granger, no doubt, being the most desirable on that occasion.

It was by such tricks as this, and by the influence he was able to secure over a portion of the Republicans through a few men in the party whom he owns, thereby securing the vote of men to secure his purpose, while they really thought they were serving their own, that the majority of Bellefonte, which should have been over a hundred, was cut down to only ten.

To what base uses men may be brought.

FOR GOVERNOR.

This paper was the first in the State to bring out the name of John F. Hartranft for Governor. We do not possess the conceit to suppose that secured his nomination, but the experience of almost three years has demonstrated the wisdom of that choice, and we believe he will be a stronger man next fall than he was in the fall of '72. The press of the State almost unanimously endorses him for a second term. In speaking upon this subject, the Columbia Spy says: "It must be apparent to everybody that the strongest possible candidate for the nomination is Gov. Hartranft. His administration has so far justified all the expectations and redeemed all the promises made by his friends in the canvass of 1872. He has been cautious, conservative where conservatism was needed, and radical and aggressive where aggression was necessary. The State finances have been well managed, the debt reduced, and expenses generally cut down. Through his veto power and his inexorable determination to stand by the Constitution, the State has been saved from a deluge of special legislation. Wise measures have been adopted at his suggestions. The public charities of the State as well as education in all its relations have been kindly fostered under his guidance. In short, his gubernatorial career has been a grand and continuous success.

In a bitter and determined campaign, as the next will be, Gov. Hartranft will be incomparably stronger to lead the Republican ticket than any other man in the Commonwealth. The campaign of '72 has silenced his calumniators, and his official conduct has won over the few men in his own party who saw fit to oppose him then. The issues of that campaign passed away with it, and Gov. Hartranft's vindication from the foul aspertions of his traducers was emphasized by a majority of 36,000 votes.

And to-day there is no known cause why his renomination should not be unanimous, his choice ratified by from fifty to one hundred thousand majority, and Gov. Hartranft inaugurated as the Centennial Governor.

FROM the tone of the Huntingdon Journal, Ex-Senator Scott's organ, it looks very much as if Mr. Scott is quite displeased with the Republican party. We suppose that his displeasure has grown out of the action of the Republican members of the Legislature, in not endorsing him as their standard bearer for a second term in the U. S. Senate. If Mr. Scott will take an unbiassed view of the case, and consider that the Republican party suffered defeat in his legislative and State senatorial districts, in a great measure, owing to the opposition to him, is it not unfair on his part if not ingratitude, to try to foster disorganization now? It strikes us that a United States Senator, who cannot influence harmony in his party at home, should not expect influence and support from abroad. If Mr. Scott will take a look into the Republican organization of the Hon. Simon Cameron's immediate district, he will find a wide contrast as compared with Huntingdon county's tumult and discord. We feel that Mr. Scott owes a debt of gratitude to the Republican party, and should lose no time in making an effort to atone for his short comings by assisting in the harmonious reorganization of the Huntingdon county Republicans.

THE State Central Committee of the Republican party have fixed upon Lancaster city as the place, and May 26th as the time for holding the next State Convention. That Convention will nominate candidates for Governor and State Treasurer.

THE RAILROAD WAR.

The Late Reduction in Fare—The Objects Aimed at—The Respective Headquarters the Objective Points.

The Philadelphia "Bulletin" of Thursday, says:

Yesterday morning, at nine o'clock, the Pennsylvania R. R. created no little excitement by announcing that they would no longer sell tickets in Philadelphia for the West at reduced prices, but that the old standard of charges would be adhered to. Almost at the same time that this was announced the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad published a still further reduction in these prices to the West.

This move of the two railroad companies had a strange look, but it was fully explained this morning, when the Pennsylvania Railroad announced a reduction in tickets for the West, if bought in Baltimore.

The Baltimore and Ohio charge $17,00 for a ticket from Philadelphia to St. Louis. By patronizing the route of the Pennsylvania Railroad by way of Baltimore it costs $13.45, a saving of $3.85, besides having the advantage of having baggage checked through.

The following are the rates of the Pennsylvania Railroad from Baltimore: To Pittsburgh, $5; Wheeling, $5.50; Cincinnati, $6; Indianapolis, $7; Louisville and Chicago, $8; St. Louis, $10.

The following are the rates by the Baltimore and Ohio from Philadelphia; To Pittsburgh, $8; Wheeling, $8; Cincinnati, $12; Indianapolis, $13; Louisville, $14; Chicago, $12; St. Louis, $17.

THE TWO ROADS COMPARED.

The St. Louis Democrat rebukes the "gushing sentimentalism" which pictures Mr. Garrett as "the champion of the rights of the people against monopoly." It says, the local rates for passengers and freight still illustrate the same spirit. Even now, while "fighting monopoly," the Baltimore and Ohio charges more, we believe, than any other leading trunk road for local passengers, traffic, and certainly much more than its chief rival, the Pendsylvania. For curiosity we have taken some pains to inquire into the facts, and find that the rates on the Pennsylvania between local points are uniformly 3 cents per mile, while those of the Baltimore and Ohio range from 3½ to 4½ cents per mile.

Thus, from Altoona to Lancaster, 163 miles, the Pennsylvania charges $5.05, while from Point of Rocks to Huttonsburg, 169 miles, the Baltimore and Ohio charges $6.15. From Cresson to Harrisburg, 147 miles, the Pennsylvania charges $4.10, and from Point of Rocks to Frankville, 148 miles, the Baltimore and Ohio charges $5.35. From New York to Harrisburg, 195miles, the Pennsylvania charges $5.50, while from Baltimore to New Creek, 201 miles, the Baltimore and Ohio charges $6.30, and to Piedmont, 206 miles, $6.50.

Moreover, the Pennsylvania charges, on the main line and all branches, the same even rate, proportioned to distance, for all local travel—3 cents per mile, and its through rate, as from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia or New York, is at the rate of 2 82-100 cents per mile. But the Baltimore and Ohio puts a heavy extra charge on the stations at which no other route can be taken, and particularly on its branch roads.

All these corporations are governed by self-interest, more or less wisely directed. The Pennsylvania gives equal rates of three cents per mile to local stations because it thinks it can make money by doing so. The Baltimore and Ohio charges from 3½ to 4½ cents, and more to some places than to others, because it thinks it can make money by doing so. Just as a farmer sells his wheat for $2 a bushel if he can get it, these roads sell transportation at the highest price they can get. There is no benevolence about it in either case. Wheat is raised, and railways managed, to make money.

DRUNKEN HUSBANDS.

We cannot shut our eyes to the fact that the local option law has not been productive of the good anticipated, and it has practically become a dead letter on the statute books in this community. It needs no elaborate reasoning or particularizing to convince the most unobserving of this, for the fact is abroad in all its evils.

Information comes to us that there is a woman living near the corner of Railroad avenue and Locust street, who washes and irons every day and half of the nights of the week, to keep three sons and a drunken husband clothed and fed. And while this woman is at work, her boys—thriftless dog fanciers—indulge in all the mischief that incessent idleness and inherent deviltry can lead them into; they desecrate the Lord's day and make the night hideous. The husband and father meanwhile strips the larder of eggs, butter, or anything else obtainable, and takes it off to be exchanged for whiskey, to fire himself with in preparation for his wife's reception upon her return from a day of drudgery.

That this woman is unnecessarily tender in the indulgence of her boys no one will question, and the more comfortably the critic is situated the more prompt will be the condemnation of her course; but that is no palliation for the brutal conduct of her husband, and some protection should be afforded such unfortunate people.

This case has been singled out from a large number, by no means the worst, nor the slightest, and not a whit exaggerated, but they can all be resolved, into these two facts, viz: The wife seems to have no protection, and the husband certainly can get liquor at any grog shop that he may conveniently stagger into.

It some one learned in the law will suggest the formality of a relief for the woman, as a type of her afflicted kind, something that will be within her means of using, he will confer a blessing upon her and a favor upon the community in which she lives.—Gazette & Bulletin.

OUR ASSOCIATED PRESS LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, March 9, 1875.

THE CENTENNIAL.

The Territory of Idaho has paid in full to Gov. Bigler, Financial Agent, the amount of money required to pay for the shares of Stock assigned to her.

The Legislatures of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Indiana, have appointed commissioners to see that the interest of these States are properly represented at the Great Exhibition.

The Board of Trade, of Wilmington, have passed resolutions requesting the Legislature of Delaware to appropriate $10,000 the City of Wilmington $5,000; and have pledged that the remaining $17,000, of the $32,000 assigned to Delaware, shall be raised by personal effort.

The Government of Japan has appropriated $200,000 in gold, for the purpose of having the industries of that nation fully exhibited.

The Dominion of Canada has made an appropriation of $250,000 for a similar purpose, and the United States Government has made an appropriation of $250,000 in greenbacks, for the purpose of exhibiting the scientific and political progress the nation has made during the first one hundred years of its existence.

Believing that the Philadelphia Exhibition should receive the support and encouragement of the whole people, the Board of Directors of the Cincinnati Industrial Exhibition have resolved that it is inadvisable to give the Cincinnati Exhibition anything of a Centennial character in 1876.

The President of the commission appointed by the Governor of Victoria, Australia, in a letter to the Centennial Commission, says: "It is proposed that the exhibits from all the British possessions in these seas, shall be displayed at Philadelphia in one court, to be called the 'Australian Court.' The space required will be 22,000 square feet. In order to make selection of the choicest and most suitable objects an inter-colonial preliminary exhibition of a competitive character will be held at Melbourne in August, 1875.

The Committee Central of the Argentine Confederation announce that a similar Exhibition will be held at Buenos Ayres during the coming summer, in order more fully to prepare for the American Exhibition of 1876.

A bill has passed the Legislature of Arizona, and received Governor Safford's approval, appropriating $5,000 to make collective exhibition of the products of that Territory at the coming Centennial.

A single day's mail brought to the Centennial Rooms twenty-two applications for space at the Exhibition, from firms and individuals in Ohio.

BAZAR OF THE NATIONS.

I have heretofore in these letters expressed wonder at the amount of work done in organizing local committees throughout the country, charged with raising funds for the Centennial. The work has been done gratuitously.

REVENUE OFFICERS COMING TO GRIEF.

The United States Court has been engaged for a couple of weeks trying Ex Collectors, to recover alleged deficiencies in their accounts. In the case of John H. Diehl the claim was for $19,000, and a judgment for $9,000 was rendered in favor of the government.

In the case of Samuel M. Zulick the claim was for $100,000, the amount of his bond, although the government claimed a deficit of $222,000. The verdict in favor of Uncle Samuel was $14,248.70, which was set aside by the Judge, and a new trial ordered, that judgment for the full amount of the bond may be obtained.

These Collectors have been out of office for six years, and as the bonds of their sureties were not entered up against them, it is mighty little difference whether the government gets judgment for $100,000 or one cent. If the first is obtained, not a cent will be paid, while if the judgment was for the latter amount, it is probable it would be handed over.

I can regard the delay in no other light than a six years delay, in order to allow the bonds men of these Collectors to get rid of their real estate.

The judgment obtained against Alexander Cummings, also an Ex-Collector was $19,000, which will be paid by his securities about Anno Domini 19,000.

By those engaged in it and now it has been determined that the Young Men's Christian Association shall have here in Philadelphia, a building grand in size and architectural beauty, in which Christians and non-believers, the world over, shall be warmly welcomed with Christian hospitality.

Such a building will cost several hundred thousand dollars to erect and furnish. It will be raised, and the first step towards raising it has been taken by holding a great and novel Entertainment, Exhibition and Sale, in this city commencing March 29th, and continuing until the 24th of April. This entertainment is called "The Bazaar of the Nations," and the largest Hall in the city has been engaged in which to hold it.

A wide avenue will extend the entire length of the Hall, and on either side will be erected houses accurately representing the following Nations:

Germany, France, Italy, England, Scotland, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland, Venice, Turkey, Syria, China, America, &c.

These houses will be so substantially constructed as to render them perfectly safe. They will be supplemented with balconies, decorations, signs, banners, and draperies appropriate to their respective nationalities.

In each house will be established a Store or Bazaar where ladies and their attendants, attired in the national costume, will offer for sale, rare, fancy and useful articles, mainly the productions of the countries they represent.

Entertainments of various descriptions will be given in day-time and evening. Curiosities from every quarter of the Globe will be exhibited. A Cafe will form one of the attractions.

Street scenes of remote lands will be introduced, and the languages of the world may by heard on the busy thoroughfare.

Every effort is being put forth to make the Bazaar the most attractive, interesting and instructive "Affair" ever brought before the people of Pennsylvania and the adjacent States.

FIRES.

We have been singularly fortunate in this city in escaping during the winter, large conflagrations incident to great cities, but since my last letter was written, we have had two very large fires; the first was the provision warehouse of Washington Butcher & Sons, entailing a loss of $80,000, on the stock of meats stored therein, and a loss of $115,000 on theirs and the adjoining buildings.

The other was the building occupied by the American Paper Box Company, and the loss by this fire is not less than $25,000. By it two hundred and fifty employees are thrown out of work, the greater number of whom are females.

The most sacriligious attempt of pickpockets to ply their game, was attempted here on last Sunday evening, at St. Mary's Catholic Church. This is one of the oldest and wealthiest Catholic organizations in this city, and while Father Martin was preaching his Sunday evening sermon, the gas was turned off at the meter. It was the belief that the cold weather had frozen it, but an immediate examination by the janitor disclosed the fact of its being turned off. Within twenty minutes after re-lighting, it was again turned off but not until a number of ladies were relieved of their pocket-books, was the cause ascertained. The thieves got off with a goodly pile of cash.

The ice gorges in the Schuylkill river have caused serious apprehension in the minds of the Mayor, Col. Scott, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and business men along the river, generally. In order to save the magnificent bridge, over the Schuylkill, at Girard Avenue, recently erected at a cost of $1,500,000, and the Pennsylvania railroad bridge, a number of attempts have been made to blow up the ice which has backed up against the bridges. The ice gorges against these bridges are several hundred yards in length, and the strain that a freshet would create, would seem more than they would be able to withstand.

Poetry.

A LETTER FROM AN HONEST QUAKER TO HIS WIFE.

NEW YORK, 4th Month, 26th, '71.
RESPECTED WIFE: From these few lines my whereabouts thee'll learn—
Moreover, I impart to thee my serious concern;
The language of this people is a riddle unto me,
And words, with them, are figments of a reckless mockery!

For instance: As I left the cars, an imp with smutty face,
Said "Shine?" "Nay, I'll not shine," I said,
"except with inward grace!"
"Is inward grace a liquor or a paste?" asked this young Turk;
"Hi Daddy! What is inward grace? How does the old thing work!"

"Friend," said I to Jehu, whose breath suggested gin,
"Can thee convey me straightway to a reputable inn!"
His answer's gross irrelevance I shall not soon forget—
Instead of simply yea or nay, he gruffly said,
"You bet!"

"Nay, nay, I shall not bet," said I, "for that would be a sin—
Why don't thee answer plainly: can thee take me
to an inn?
The vehicle is doubtless meant to carry folks about in!
Then why prevaricate?" Said he, perversely,
"Now yer shoutin'!"

"Nay, verily, I shouted not!" quoth I, "my speech is mild;
But thine—I grieve to say it—with falsehood is defiled.
Thee ought to be admonished to rid thy heart of guile."
"See here! my lively moke," said he, "you sling an too much style!"

"I've had these plain drab garments twenty years or more," said I,
"And when thee says I 'sling on style,' thee tells a willful lie."
At that he pranced around as if a bee was in his bonnet,
And, with a hostile demonstration, inquired if
"I was on it."

"On what? Till thee explains thyself, I can not tell," I said,"
He swore that something was "too thin;" moreover it was "played;"
But all this jargon was surpassed in wild absurdity,
By threats, profanely emphasized, to put a head
on me.

"No son of Belial," said I, "that miracle can do!"
Whereat he fell upon me, with blows and curses, too,
But failed to work that miracle—if such was his design—
Instead of putting on a head, he strove to smite off mine!

Thee knows I cultivate the peaceful habit of our sect,
But this man's conduct wrought on me to singular effect;
For when he slapped my broad-brim off and asked, "How's that for high?"
It raised the Adam in me, and I smote him hip and thigh!

The 'throng then gave a specimen of calumny
broke loose,
And said I'd "snatched him bald-headed and likewise cooked his goose;".
Although I solemnly affirm I did not pull his hair,
Nor did I cook his poultry—for he had no poultry there!

They called me "Bully Boy!" although I've seen
nigh three-score year;
And said that I was lightning when I got upon my ear!
And when I asked if lightning climbed its car or dressed in drab
"You know how 'tis yourself?" said one inconsequential blab!

Thee can 'concieve that, by this time, I was somewhat perplexed;
Yea, the placid spirit in me has seldom been so vexed;
I tarried there no longer, for plain spoken men—
like me—
With such perverters of our tongue can have no unity.

MOTHER.

When she undid her hair at night,
About the time for lying down,
She came and knelt. I was so small,
There in my bed, her curls did fall
All over me, light gold and brown.

I fell asleep amid her prayers,
Her fair young face (far off it seems),
Her girlish voice, her kisses sweet,
The patter of her busy feet,
Passed with me into charming dreams.

And when I woke at merry morn,
Through her gold hair I saw the sun
Flame strong, shine glad, and glorify
The great, good world. Oh, never can I
Forget the words. "My darling one!"

Ah! checkered years since then have crept
Fast her and me, and we have known
Some sorrow and much tempered joy,
Far into manhood stands her boy,
And her gold hair snow-white is blown.

The world has changed by slow degrees
And as old days recede, alas!
So much of trouble have the new,
Those rare far joys grow dim, seen through
Sad times as through a darkened glass.

But just this morning when I woke
How lovingly my lips were kissed!
How chaste and clear the sunlight shone
On mother's hair, like gold-dust sown
Athwart thin clouds of silver mist.

Our Story Teller.

"I WILL IF YOU WILL."

The Kay House is a pleasant little hotel, standing half way up the side of a mountain in New Hampshire.

In the parlor there, one July evening, were four people—Mrs. St. John and her daughter Elly, Miss Emily May and Mr. Millburn. As Elly St. John went to the piano, these two last slipped out on the balcony, and stood listening as Elly sung:

"Could we forget, could we forget!
On that Lethe were running yet,
The past should fade like a morning dream,
In a single drop of the holy stream.
Ah! we know what you would say,
But we are too tired to hope or pray;
For, hurt with ceaseless jar and fret,
Body and soul cannot forget.

"Can they forget, will they forget
When they shall reach the boundary set,—
When wit the final pang and strain
They are parted never to meet again?
Ever to them shall rest be given,
Senseless in earth or happy in heaven?
That which has been it might be yet
If we would only learn to forget;
But the stars shall cease to rise and set,
And fall from Heaven ere we forget."

Elly sung with an intensity and pathos which borrowed none of its force from within, for she was a good-natured, inconsequent sort of girl, who had never had a trouble in her life. The gift of musical expression is often quite independent of feeling or experience. Elly's [illegible] cruelly, and stirred but just begun to fall asleep for a little, She had loved deeply and fondly a man who had grown tired of her and left her because he was greatly her inferior.

Much as she suffered, I rejoiced when her engagement with Lewis Leighton was broken. I had known Lewis from his earliest childhood, and I had always disliked him as a selfish, conceited prig. The last I heard of him, he had turned Catholic, and joined the Jesuits; and I only hope he got well snubbed during his noviliate. Had Miss May married him, her disappointment would have been unspeakably greater than it was. As she leaned over the balcony while Elly sung, and looked out into shadows and starlight, her heart was wrung as with the first anguish of loss, the sickening sense of her own blind infatuation. "Oh God!" she said to herself, "when WILL the bitterness of this death be past?" Then she became conscious that Mr. Millburn was speaking to her; but he had more than half finished what he had to say before she realized that he was asking her to be his wife.

He spoke at a very unfortunate moment. He and Emily had been very good friends that summer. They had wandered in the woods, ascended Mount Washington, and had been to Glen Ellis together. She had liked him, but she had never dreamed of him as a lover, and when he presented himself in that light she was shocked, and startled, and a little provoked.

"Oh hush!" she said sharply. "It never can be—never!"

"Do you then dislike me so much," said Evert Millburn, trying very hard to speak quietly.

"No," she said, making an effort to collect her thoughts. "I have liked you—you have been good to me; but all the love I had to give is dead and buried, and there is no resurrection."

He made no answer; but she felt that she had hurt him.

"I am very sorry," she faltered; "I never meant—"

"I understand," he said quickly. "It is no one's fault but my own. Good night." And they touched hands and parted.

Evert went up to his own room, where his friend, Dick Bush, was sitting in the dark. Dick was a boy of nineteen. He had been trying to work his way through college, and had worn himself out in the effort, and Mr. Millburn had brought him to the mountains for his vacation. Dick made a hero of Evert, and he had been mortally jealous of Emily May.

"Dick," said Mr. Millburn, after a little, "we will go over to the Glen to-morrow."

And then Dick understood the case, and mentally abused Miss May as a "cold-hearted flirt," which epithet she did not in the least deserve.

Evert and Dick went away early in the morning. Emily heard the stage drive away, and turned her face to her pillow, and thought bitterly of the horrible perverseness of things in this world.

She knew that Evert was good, and manly, and sensible. He was in a fair way to win reputation at the bar, and if not just handsome, was attractive and gentlemanly.

"There are dozens that would be proud and happy to accept his love; and nothing would do but that he must throw it away on me," thought Emily, impatiently. "But its never worth while to pity men very much. They mostly get over their troubles very easily, if there is no money lost." From which it may be inferred that Miss May was perhaps a bit of cynic.

Emily May lived with her mother, in an inland town in New York. She had a little property of her own, and, with what she could earn by her pen, she managed to dress herself, pay for summer's journey now and then, and keep her own house over her head.

It was her way to look after her sick neighbors, poor or not; to visit, now and then, at the hospital and the county house and do what her hand found to do. She made no fuss, and laid down no rules, and was under the ecclesiastical "direction" in particular; but I am inclined to think she was as useful, and far more agreeable, than if she had made herself hideous in a poke bonnet, and committed mental suicide.

When her holiday was over that summer, she came home, and settled quietly down to her work.

She was busy at her desk one day in October, when a carriage drove rapidly up the street, and stopped at the door, and Dick Bush jumped hurriedly out, and rang the bell. Emily went to the door herself, upon which Dick's hurry seemed suddenly to subside; and when he came into the parlor, he appeared to find great difficulty in expressing himself, and Emily, greatly wondering, asked after his friend Mr. Millburn.

Dick's tongue was loosed.

"Oh, Miss May," he said, with a shaking voice, "Evert is dying."

"Where? How?" said Emily, startled and sincerely sorry.

Now Dick had been rather melodramatically inclined. He had meant to act like the hero of a lady's novel, and administer a severely inflexible reproof to the woman who had trifled with Evert; but in Miss May's presence he refrained.

"He went out shooting with a fool of a boy, and he, the boy, fired wild, and Evert was badly hurt, and fever set in; and, oh! Miss May, he keeps asking for you, and he won't be quiet; and the doctor said, if you could you ought to come, for it might make a difference. There's his note, and Mrs. Millburn's."

The doctor wrote, succinctly, that, considering the state of the case, Miss May's presence might possibly keep the patient quieter, which was all important. Mrs. Millburn's note was an incoherent blotted epistle, begging this unknown young lady to come and save her boy.

Emily could not refuse; her mother hurried her off, and in two hours she was seated beside Dick, on her way to Springfield. Her reflections were not pleasant. Every one would talk, and suppose there was a romance. Elly St. John would be sure to know about it, and Elly was such a little chatter-box; and to try to make a mystery of the matter would be still worse.

Then she had "nothing to wear." And how should she get along with Evert's mother and sister? And who would take her Bible class on Sunday? And what was to become of her little book promised for "the spring trade?"

"I dare say it's all nonsense his wanting me," she thought. "People never mean what they say in fever. I remember Pat Murphy insisting that he would have a hippopotamus 'handy in the house;' and if Mr. Millburn comes to himself, how horribly embarrassing it will be!"

On the whole, Miss May's feelings were rather those of vexation than of romance.

They rode all night, and when Emily reached the door of the handsome old-fashioned house in Springfield, she was conscious of "looking like a fright," and wished herself anywhere else.

The door was no sooner opened than she was embraced by a little old lady in black, and a pretty girl in an elegant morning dress. Both were in tears, and had evidently been for some time on the verge of hysterics; and Emily at once set them down as "the sort of women who are never of any use."

"Oh, my dear! It is so good of you! So very good of you!" said Mrs. Millburn.

"I am sure you will be his guardian angel," said sentimental Hatty.

"Not at all. Mr. Millburn and I were very good friends, and I shall be very glad if I can do him any good," said Emily, in a very matter-of course tone; and then the doctor made his appearance, and begged her to come up stairs.

"If he could be kept quiet, there might be a chance for him," said the doctor; "but so much depends on nursing"—and the doctor ended with an expressive silence. Evert was moaning and sobbing, and begging that some one would send Emily May with "one drop of water."

The nurse, who to Emily's critical eyes, looked anything but capable, was fussing over him in a way that was enough in itself to drive a sane person mad. Emily poured out a goblet of water with a steady hand, and as the ice tinkled against the side of the glass she held it to his lips.

"There is water," she said, in her ordinary sweet, cheery voice. "Now if you will try to be quist, I will stay with you."

She could not tell whether he recognized her or not, but the nervous, feverish distress and excitement seemed in some measure to subside; and after a time, he was comparatively quiet.

Now nursing a wounded man in a fever sounds very romantic in a novel; but in its real details, it is anything but a romantic business.

Emily May, at Evert Millburn's bedside, felt herself in an entirely false position; but she took care of him, for there was nothing else to be done. The nurse went off in a huff with Miss May and the doctor; Mrs. Millburn and Hatty could only cry and rustle about, and overset things with their dresses. Evert would grow restless as soon as Emily left him, so that the charge, in spite of herself, fell into her hands.

Happily Mrs. Millburn and Hatty were not jealous. On the contrary, they admitted Emily extremely, and were very grateful and affectionate.

Before the end of the week, Evert came to himself.

"I have dreamed you were here," he said, with a faint smile. "Now I see it is you, and no phantom."

The delirium had gone, but the doctor said nothing encouraging. Evert insisted on hearing the exact truth; and learned at last that he might possibly live a few days, but not longer.

Then, to Emily's wonder and dismay, Evert entreated that, for the little time there was remaining, she would take his name. His heart was fixed on this idea and he pleaded, for what seemed such a useless boon, with a vehemence that seemed likely to hasten his last moments. Mrs. Millburn and Hatty seconded the petition with tears, and they were sure that "darling Emily" would not refuse dear Evert's last request.

Emily did what nine women out of ten would have done in the same case, and consented.

"What harm can it do?" she thought, "it is only a mere form, but it gives me the right to be with him to the end, and will prevent any talk; and he is so good and has loved me so well; and if it comforts him now to think that my name will be Millburn instead of May, why should I refuse?" And then it crossed her mind that a widow's cap would be very becoming to her, and she hated herself because this silly notion had come to her unbidden, and twisted up her hair tight and plain, and went to meet the clergyman in her old black mohair, which had become considerably spotted down the front in the course of her nursing.

The rite was made as short as possible, and then Mrs. Millburn sent every one away, and for two days the bride stood over the bridegroom, and fought against death till she was ready to faint.

The doctor gave up the patient entirely, and ceased to do anything; and, as sometimes happens in like cases, he took a turn for the better; and slowly the balance trembled, the scale inclined, and life had won.

"I'll tell you what it is," said the doctor, "your wife has saved your life."

Evert turned his head on the pillow, and looked for Emily; but she had slipped away into the next room, where she sat down, feeling for the first time, with a strange shock, that she was actually married. What could she do? How could she tell Evert, after all, that she had only gone to him as she would have gone to Pat Murphy, if he had sent for her, and consented to that marriage rite as she had lent her silver candlesticks to hold Father Flanagan's blessed candles, when Judy Murphy died?

The doctor went down stairs; and presently Mrs. Millburn and Hatty came to her, and overwhelmed her with embraces and gratitude, and a "point applique" set, and fragmentary talk about her "things" and proposals to send for her mother, all mingled together. Emily resolutely put away thought, for the time, but she could not help feeling, in an odd surprised way, that she was not unhappy, and despised herself for having a sort of ashamed, furtive interest in those "things," which Mrs. Millburn and Hatty were longing to provide.

A week after that day, Evert was allowed to sit up in his easy chair white and wan enough, but with a look of returning health and life. Emily was sitting almost with her back to him, looking out into the tossing leafless branches of the great elm.

Emily," said Mr. Millburn, at last.

"Yes," she answered quietly, but she did not turn her head.

"Emily, I did not mean to get well."

No answer from Mrs. Millburn.

"I know you must feel what has happened. Believe me, I will take no advantage of your goodness; I will set you free as soon as I can. My only wish is to spare you trouble; I will take all blame on myself. I know you are longing to be away; and why should I delay what must come at last? I dare say Dick and Mrs. Macy, the nurse, can do all I need now."

"Oh, if you prefer Mrs. Macy's attendance, I'm sure it is nothing to me," said Emily in a remarkably cross manner.

"You are angry with me but there need be no difficulty, dear. You came away from home so hurriedly that it would be perfectly natural for you to return to your mother now."

But here, to Evert's dismay, Emily hid her face, and began to cry in quite a passionate and distressful fashion. Evert rose with difficulty, and went to her,—it was not more than three steps.

"Do you want to kill yourself?" she said through her sobs, and she took hold of him and made him sit down, and then turned away, and laid her head on the window seat.

"What can I do?" he said, distressed.

"It's too bad! Oh, it's too bad!" she said in the most unreasonable way.

"I know it, Emily. You are as free as though no word had ever passed between us. Do you want to go to-day? I will make it easy for you with mother and Hatty," he said, with a pang.

She went on crying, and then in a minute she said, in a most incoherent fashion:

"I—I didn't think I was so very disagreeable." The words dropped out one by one between her sobs. "But, of course, if you don't want me—"

"Emily! What do you mean? Will you stay? Will you really try to care for me?" he asked, with a sudden light in his eyes.

"I don't know. I—did think—as matters are, we might try to make the best of it," she said in the faintest whisper, while the color ran to her fingers' ends.

"You will?"

"I will if you will," said Mrs. Millburn, with a sweet, shy smile.

And she kept her word.

The Submerged Southern City.

Chattanooga's Painful Experience—Business Houses and Dwellings Under Water—Boating Continued in the Streets—Three Lives Lost.

CHATANOOGA, March 1.—The river has been at a stand since this morning, covering Market street from the river to Ninth street, and completely submerging the Union depot, Commercial, Van Horn, and Read Hotels, together with very nearly all the business houses on Market and Ninth streets of South Chattanooga, and a great many houses in the main part of the city, which are not so fortunate as to be situated on high ground. One man who was intoxicated was drowned on Saturday, and two last night, one of whom was colored; the other was chief engineer of the Chattanooga Iron Company's Works, named Jones. This comprises all the fatalities known. The steam ferry-boat was among the submerged houses in South Chattanooga, Saturday and Sunday, relieving and taking off all who were in need. Many have been the ducklings received, but everybody, not excepting those whose loss is heaviest, are in a happy mood and disposed to take it cheerfully. We have to use a boat to get to and from the telegraph office, and from one side of town to the other. Still messages have been delivered nearly as promptly as usual, notwithstanding the greatly increased number of them in consequence of the flood. The railroads are cut off in every direction, and consequently there has been no mail to or from the city for several days past until now. A steamer has gone down the river with mails and passengers to Bridgeport, where it will meet the train for Nashville. Only one wire remains up, and we fear its loss momentarily.

A GREAT FLOOD SWEEPING DOWN THE VALLEY.

CINCINATTI, March 1.—The Commercial's Bridgeport, Ala., special says that the greatest flood that has visited that region, with one exception, is now sweeping down the Tennessee Valley. All the low ground about Chattanooga is submerged, and there is great loss of property. Every railroad leading into the city is badly washed, and whole sections are submerged. The East Tennessee road is cut in twenty places. The Memphis and Charleston road is under water for miles, and has lost heavily in bridges.

The Nashville road is also a great sufferer; the great bridge across the Tennessee at Bridgeport is in danger, but as it is heavily weighted down with loaded cars it is thought it may be saved. The river is still rising slowly. The destruction in houses, stock, and horses for 300 miles up and down is very great, the greatest ever known with the possible exception of the flood of eight years ago.

Grievances of American Woman.

In no country, whether of ancient or modern times, have women had less to complain of in their treatment by man than in America. This is no rhetorical declamation; it is the simple statement of an undeniable fact. It is a matter of social history. The hardest tasks have been taken by man, and a generous tenderness has been shown to woman in many of the details of social life, prevading all classes of society, to a degree beyond what is customary even in the most civilized countries of Europe. Taking these two facts together—that certain abuses still exist, that certain laws and regulations need changing, and that, as a general rule, American woman have thus far been treated by their countrymen with especial consideration, in a legal and a social sense—the inference becomes perfectly plain. A formidable and very dangerous social revolution is not needed to correct remaining abuses. Any revolution aiming at upsetting the existing relations of the sexes—relations going back to the earliest records and traditions of the race—can not be called less than formidable and dangerous. Let women make full use of the influences already at their command, and all really needed changes may be effected by means both sure and safe—means already thoroughly tried. Let them use all the good sense, all the information, all the eloquence, and, if they please, all the wit, at their command when talking over these abuses in society. Let them state their views, their needs, their demands in conscientiously written papers. Let them appeal for aid to the best, the wisest, the most respected men of the country, and the result is certain. Choose any one real, existing abuse as a test of the honesty and the liberality of American men toward the women of the country, and we all know beforehand what shall be the result.—Harper's Magazine.

Education in the South.

Among the ancient Jewish maxims on popular education are such pithy apothegms as these: "The world is only saved by the breath of the school children;" "Even for the rebuilding of the temple, the schools must not be interrupted;" "A scholar is greater than a prophet;" "Jerusalem was destroyed because the instruction of youth was neglected." The statistics regarding the establishment of schools in the Southern States afford a most striking illustration alike of the truth of these maxims and of the immeasurable superiority of the Republican party over the Democratic party as an agency for the intellectual and moral elevation and improvement of the human race. In Arkansas, where, in thirty-five years the Democrats opened twenty-five sickly schools, none of them free, the Republicans in six years built an Agricultural College, established Deaf-mute and Blind Asylums, built 1,292 public shools, and nearly 3,000 free schools, and put 20,000 children into them annually. Georgia had not a single free school before the war, but under its Republican regime 816 such schools were established, with an attendance of 40,000 pupils. Upon the return of the Democracy to power, these schools immediately begun to languish, and they now talk of abolishing them altogether, being according to a correspondent of the Louisville "Courier-Journal," heartily sick and disgusted with footing the bills to educate the negro.' In Tennessee, under Republican rule, nearly 4,000 schools were established within a period of less than two years, while within a year after the State relapsed into Democracy this number had dwindled down to 478. In one county of that State, in which, in 1869, there were forty-six white, and eight colored schools, three years later there remained but three. While the Republicans governed Texas, they gave the State 1,921 schools, in which 84,000 scholars were taught. A year ago the number had diminished to 85, and of pupils to 2,913 and both are growing less and less. Mississippi had no free schools until the close of the war, but within three years thereafter the Republicans organized over 3,000 of them. So with Alabama, and with other Southern States; in them all Democracy means popular ignorance and darkness, and Republicanism popular intelligence and light. Ten years hence, were the Democratic party to remain in power in the nation during that time, there would not be a solitary free school remaining in the whole South, to mark where the pillars of progress had once stood.—Pittsburg Commercial.

'Little Bo-peep' and the Dying Child.

I remember when I was nursing in a bospital once, there was a poor little boy about six years old dying of rheumatic fever. I was night nurse in that ward; and regularly, when the attack of pain came on, he used to scream out for me:

"Nursey, sing. It hurts me. Sing the hurt away."

So then I'd prop him up on my arm and sing one song after another, from "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" to "Black-Eyed Susan," till the paroxysm of pain was over, and he'd quiet down again. I always knew when that was by his joinin' his voice in too—such a weak pipe of a voice poor lamb! but I was better glad to hear it than any music, for it telled me the pain was gone for awhile, and I could lie down and sleep again.

Poor wee mite! I was singing "Little Bo-peep," the night he died. I had him in my arms. He'd been singing all day. I knew he couldn't last out another and though he tried to join in as usual; his voice went into a gasp and broke. I'd been sometimes used to call the children in the ward my little sheep, and when I came to the end of the verse:

Little Bo-peep she lost her sheep,
And doesn't know where to find 'em,
Let 'em alone, and they'll come home,
And bring their tails behind 'em—

he looked up in my face with a bit of a smile on his poor little drawn white mouth, and said;

"Nursey'll know where to find her lickle sheep when he goes home. Will I be long going home now, nursey?"

Long! Ah, poor little lamb! ten minutes later an' he'd gone home.—Cassell's Magazine.

The Rebel Yell.

The Missouri rebel element had it all their own way in the caucus for U. S. Senator. In the Democratic caucus the contest was between Gen. Cockrell, Confederate, and Gen. Phelps, Union. The vote was three to one for the rebel. The old "rebel yell" resounded through the capitol at the announcement and the revelry was equal to that over a Confederate victory. The St. Louis Journal attempts a description:

"The scene in the rotunda beggars description. The great mass of humanity surged to and fro, some cheering madly, others hooting and cursing, and all excited to the highest possible pitch. The rebel element here manifested itself prominently. "By——we've beat 'em at least!" "Yes,——'em! the Gray has scooped the blue this time! Mebbe we hain't jest crawled out of the brush!" "Whoop 'er up boys, and see how old Grant likes the rebel yell this time!" These were the cries that resounded through the halls of the old capitol building, the like of which have not been heard since the dark days of treason in 1861."

THE celebrated portrait painter, Stuart, once met a lady in the street in Boston, who saluted him with, "Oh, Mr. Stuart, I have just seen your miniature, and I kissed it, because it was so much like you." "And did it kiss you in return?" "Why, no." "Then," said Stuart, "'twas not like me."

"IF you men," remarked a Washington lady at a reception recently, "would let the women's dresses alone, there would be much less foolishness and misery in the world." A painful silence followed, and we suppose it proved the truth of the remark.

The Simple Secret.

Twenty clerks in a store, twenty hands in a printing office, twenty apprentices in a ship-yard, twenty young men in a village—all want to get on in the world and expect to do so. One of the clerks will become a partner and make a fortune; one of the compositors will own a newspaper and become an influential citizen; one of the apprentices will become a master builder; one of the young villagers will get a handsome farm and live like a patriarch—but which one is the lucky individual? Lucky! There is no luck about it. The thing is almost as certain as the rule of three. The young fellow who will distance his competitors is he who masters his business, who preserves his integrity, who lives cleanly and purely, who devotes his leisure to the acquisition of knowledge, who gains friends by deserving them, and who saves his spare money. There are some ways to fortune shorter than this old dusty highway; but the staunch men of the community, the men who achieve something really worth having, good fortune, good name, and serene old age, all go on this road.

MORE ABOUT HAIR DYES.—A physician writes to the Boston Journal of Chemistry, in regard to two cases of partial paralysis that came under his notice, caused by the use of "hair restoratives." He says: One complained of creeping chills, and a sensation of numbness in the back of the head and neck; the other had the peculiar symptoms of lead paralysis in the arm and wrist. Both used the nostrum freely, and recovered after I had advised them of its contents, and they had discontinued its use.

Any one may satisfy himself of the contents of this filthy compound by the peculiar sticky feeling of acetate of lead, when rubbed between the fingers, or by placing a drop upon the tongue, and noting the sweeting astringent taste of the salt.

I cannot see how the consumer can fail to absord lead into the system, if the directions on the bottle are carefully carried out: "rub the scalp thoroughly, after which leave the scalp and hair thoroughly saturated with it," etc.

A NOVEL instance of applying fertilizers to an apple tree is related in a recent number of the "Scientific American." A pippin apple tree that was old and hollow, and had borne nothing of any account for several years was selected for the experiment. The hollow to the height of eight feet was filled up with a compost of garden mould, wood ashes and a little waste lime, and the filling was securely fastened with boards. As a result the next year's crop of sound fruit amounted to sixteen bushels, and for at least a dozen years the old tree has continued to flourish and bear well. There is scarce an old orchard in the State that does not contain some hollow trees, and the experiment which proved so successful in this case is certainly worthy trying.

IT is remarkable how some writers can adorn the most commonplace subject with the flowers of poesy, and make it a joy forever. We read in a contemporary that a highly esteemed citizen of Franklin, "who has dwelt upon this sublunary sphere for the term of seventy years, and that time had the mingled grief and pleasure to lay three wives where the flowers of spring could grow over them and the dews of summer sparkle like a robe of diamonds about them, recently took to himself a fourth partner of his joys and sorrows in the person of a charming widow who has deposited two matrimonial ventures in a place of perpetual security and gazed on the blushing roses of seventy-five summers."

A GENTLEMAN in a Western city sitting in a pew with a lady with whom he had formerly been on terms of intimate acquaintance, handed her a Bible with a pin stuck through the following verse: "And now I beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another." After reading it she stuck the pin through the following verse, and handed the book back to him: "Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with paper and ink; but I trust to come unto you, and speak face to face, that our joy may be full."

THE Democratic Legislature of North Calolina has just expelled a Republican member, on the ground that he is an infidel, and that his doctrines are "subversive of the principles of the State Constitution and sound morals." This is the same immaculately pious body which the other day passed a bill practically distranchising the colored voters of Wilmington, and reviving, in a new form, the old slavery doctrine that the master should cast the vote of his chattels—subverting, thereby, alike "the principles" of the United States Constitution and of the New Testament.

THE Alfonso Government in Spain has, it is reported, passed a general divorce law for all priests who contracted marriage during the republic. The Church of Rome would rather have priests live in sin than marry according to the law of God.

A COUPLE of color, affectionately interested in each other with a view to matrimony, and unable to read or write, have been corresponding through "third" parties. The other day Romeo was listening to a letter from his Juliet, in which happened the expression, "Reclining in the arms of Morpheus." "What's dat? In de arms of anudder niggar? Dat gal can go to Jericho—I dun lub dat secon' han' darkey—no, sah!"

THE following interesting conversation occurred between the census taker and a young lady.

"I am taking a statiatical census of manufactures and produce; was there any produce raised here last year?"

"Yes; I've got one about six months old!"

The man left.

"SYMPATHY," says John Paul, "is something which I never withhold from those in trouble, whether they happen to be friends or not; there's nothing mean about me. I find, too, that one can go around shedding sympathy on all sides for weeks at a time without spending a cent, or being at much personal inconvenience.

A GENTLEMAN who generally declines invitations out to tea, when asked the cause, stated that when away from home he was afraid to use as much sugar as he wanted. No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its general effects upon the human system, as follows:
It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the Blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It intuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operation of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It destroys all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom. It drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be wrought in its condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL — PURELY — DR. WALKER'S — CALIFORNIA — VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked. "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

A SOLDIER OF THE EMPIRE.

Death in the Fayette County Almshouse of a Member of Napoleon's Army.

We learn from Uniontown Standard that on the 22d of last month Michael Billinger, a soldier of the French Revolution, died in the Fayette county almshouse in the 99th year of his age. Billinger was a German by birth, but a Frenchman by education. In 1793, when seventeen years of age, he joined his fortunes with the Republican army, and, marching with General Dumouriez into Holland, he fought at Breda and Gertruydenburg. With the demoralization of Dumouriez's command he deserted with a large number of his fellow-soldiers and sought refuge in the Austrain camp. Assuming the garb and manners of a peasant, he traveled up the Rhine, passing successively Arnheim, Cologne, Bonn, Coblent, and Metz. Subsequently enlisting with Napoleon Bonaparte, he fought under him in 1796 at Millesimo and Mondovi, followed the Little Corporal in his famous charge across the bridge of Lodi, and was with him in Egypt and heard his speech when he told his men that forty centuries looked down upon them "from the summit of yonder pyramids." Michael's last campaign was when he followed Napoleon to Moscow, witnessed the burning of that magnificent city, and suffered the privations of the terrible retreat. He fought at Smolensko and Borodino, and was with Ney in his march through the Black Forest. He was wounded in the retreat from Russia, his nose being split with a Cossack saber and his body receiving the contents of a Cossack blunderbuss. The lead he carried with him to his grave. Old soldier of the Empire, "requiescat in pace."

For the Republican.

THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.—Suppose, for instance, you wanted to go to Snow Shoe. If you were a stranger, you would be likely to inquire the road to Snow Shoe. You would find that there are several routes: You can take the cars and a few hours ride will bring you there. But you say, I am afraid to climb up that mountain side over those switches; no accident ever did occur, but one might. You are told there is another, an old, rough wagon road, somewhat devious and precarious, but many others have gone over it before. The traveler might object even to this way of getting there; an axle might break, wild animals might molest, or he might mistake the road. Then you tell him he can go to Philipsburg by rail and drive thence to Snow Shoe; but to this he might object because here the perils of the other two are combined. Now some people might prefer to go in one way and some in another. Many a man would just as leave take his compass for his guide and go through the woods.

The point to be reached is "Snow Shoe" and anybody that wants to, can go there "by any route he pleases." Perhaps the above idea might answer as a rough illustration of the christian churches. Heaven is the objective point; and it don't make so much difference whether you go by the Episcopelian, Baptist, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Methodist, or any other route—so you get there safely in the end. Those who are not afraid to rough it, and who would just as leave blaze their way through the woods, might join the Methodist van; if you prefer an open field concert of action, solidity, regularity and dignity, go with the grand old Presbyterian congregation; those who would enjoy the beauties and charms of a passage by both land and water should join in with the Baptists; others may prefer the beautiful and impressive forms of the Episcopalians, the creed of the honest, valorous Reformers, or any other denomination that may suit their particular tastes and creeds. While all may be distinct in movement, they should be united in spirit and design or the grand End will not be reached. Each church seems to wear its own peculiar uniform and they are, or should be, as easily distinguished from one another as foot soldiers from cavalry. Now in this journey to the Heavenly Kingdom, should one clan meet or come in contract with another, it would seem to be proper to exchange the every day courtesies and civilities of travelers and christians. If, for instance, the Presbyterians should rear a great and beautiful temple in which to worship for a season, and another tribe, say the Methodists, should find it convenient to construct a house of worship, near to it or under its shadow, it would be decidedly unchristian and unmanly for the two sects to be at enmity, one with the other. The outside world would look on in disgust were it to see a minister of Christ standing in the door of the former structure, and shouting across the street to his more unpretentious neighbor: "Get out of here; you are getting too close to us; you make too much noise in your worship; we can't hold our own when it comes to a trial of voice; your harsh music bothers us; and the banging and clanging of your Meneely bells with ours makes discord; we can out-wind you, but you out-voice us; don't be quite so familiar; keep away from us!" Of course no christian gentleman would take such high grounds, but there are a few mean despicable individuals who might make things unpleasant in that way. There are other points of etiquette which should be touched upon, but the above answers our purpose for the present. Happy is he who can sometimes put his head into one church, and sometimes into another, and can say to all, "Grace be with you so long as ye are on your journey to Zion." VINDEX.

——The following communication was received too late for last week's issue:

Port Matilda is looking up in spite of the panic. More buildings were erected the past year than in the five preceding years. Among the rest is a new planing mill under the supervision of D. H. Rook, just about ready to operate. The latest excitement here is the election of last Tuesday. There was a perfect swarm of candidates for the honors and emoluments of office—some seventy in all. Upon the whole the day passed orderly and the next morning the return judge, who is by odds the biggest man in the place, proceeded to Bellefonte to discharge his duties under the new Constitution. In the evening he returned to Port Matilda, a good deal bigger than when he started for Bellefonte.

He was noticed in one of the stores talking big, expounding law and especially abusing one of our best citizens. He boasted that he had the money in his pocket to pay the officers of the election. But he failed to get home that night to his family, about one fourth of a mile out of town, but staid at a public house in this place. Next morning instead of going home to look after his suffering and impoverished family, he took the early train to Julian, where he put in part of the day, and from there by train to Tyrone where he was last heard of, "bigger" than ever—buying horses, &c. Of course the election board failed to get their pay. It is feared that he will get so big that he will burst, and that would be a pity as he is a good Democrat.

OBSERVER.

THE temperance Democrats will be disappointed in the vote of our representatives upon the repeal of the Local Option law. Who would have thought that that good man Shuggert, would have voted for free rum; and who would have thought that Meek's pet would have voted against it?

——Messrs. D. Johnson & Son will resign the management of the Brockerhoff House, April first. Their successor has not been announced, but it is doubtful if they'll find a better landlord than David Johnson.

BELLEFONTE PA., March 3rd, 1875.

Col. Brown;

Sir;—The general satisfaction given by your lecture on "The claims of Society upon Young Men," delivered by you in the Court House, on the 23rd ultimo, induce us to urge you to repeat it. We are aware of the difficulty of getting out an audience in times like these, but your well known eloquence and the importance of the subject, we are assured, will not fail to command a proper appreciation. We would beg leave to suggest St. Patrick's Day as a suitable occasion. St. Patrick, as is well known, was the patron and friend of young men, and it seems proper that his day should be commemorated by a lecture of this kind. We would therefore, respectfully suggest that you repeat your lecture on the evening of the 17th instant, feeling assured that young men, to whom the lecture is particularly adapted will be benefited thereby.

As the proceeds of the 23rd ult. went to the poor of the town, now we propose that the receipts of the next delivery be for your own benefit.

Yours truly,

BELLEFONTE, March 9th, 1875.

J. P. Gephart, Joe. W. Furey, George G. Tate, Sam'l M. Walker, Wm. S. Tripple, &c,

GENTLEMEN:

Your kind letter inviting me to repeat my Lecture on the evening of the 17th inst, has called forth the warmest emotions of my heart; and while I would much prefer delivering a lecture on a new subject, I can but, under the circumstances, acquiesce in your request. I will therefore repeat the Lecture on the 17th inst, and in accordance with a friend's suggestion add some elocutionary readings.

Respectfully yours,
W. W. BROWN.

Heart Disease Cured.

ROCKPORT, Spencer Co., Ind., February 1st, 1874.

Dr. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

About two years ago I was afflicted with a disease of the heart, which at times created a pressure around it almost causing suffocation. I saw an advertisement of your Golden Medical Discovery, recommending the same as a cure for disease of the heart. I then bought half a dozen bottles of it, and after using three bottles, I was entirely relieved and am now enjoying good health.

Gratefully yours,
VITUS KILLIAN.

How common is the announcement. Thousands are suddenly swept into eternity by this fatal malady. This disease generally has its origin in impure blood filled with irritating, poisonous materials, which, circulating through the heart, irritate its delicate tissues. Though the irritation may at first be only slight, producing a little palpitation or irregular action, or dull, heavy, or sharp darting pains, yet by and by the disease becomes firmly seated, and inflammation, or hypertrophy, or thickening of the lining membrane or of the valves, is produced. How wise to give early attention to a case of this kind. Unnatural throbbing or pain in the region of the heart should admonish one that all is not right, and if you would preserve it from further disease, you must help it to beat rightly by the use of such a remedy as will remove the cause of the trouble. Use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before the disease has become too seated, and it will by its great blood purifying and wonderful regulating properties, effect a perfect cure. It contains medicinal properties which act specifically upon the tissues of the heart, bringing about a healthy action. Sold by all first class Druggists.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

A VALUABLE WORK.—There are in this country a great many Presbyterians who love the grand old church and what ever pertains to its history, and yet we doubt not there are many devout members who know comparatively little of its history which sketches back through the ages, almost to the time when the "meek and lowly Jesus" walked and taught among men. De Witt C. Lent & Co., 446 Broome St., New York, have published a history of the Presbyterian church throughout the world, it is edited by the Rev. G. S. Plumley. It is a book or rare merit, containing over 800 pages, and should be found in every Presbyterian family in the land. It is written in a plain, beautiful way, and is a book for the people. It begins in the days of martyrdom, and illustrates what these people suffered for their faith in the days when bigotry and superstition held sway. The history of the church is traced through all its eventful history and moral elevation; the struggles with in its own body; its growing—pains in taking on its present body, so full of throbbing life and energy. It is not only full of knowledge, but as thrilling and intensely interesting from beginning to end. It is a family tree—a genealogy of more than a kingly line. It is a great Presbyterian record, and no Presbyterian who reads can help feeling a renewed interest in his church and that it is an honor to be in this line of priests and kings unto God. We speak thus because we have the book and know its merits. It ranges in price from $4.00 to $9.00 and is perfectly elegant in its make up. Address, De Witt C. Lent & Co., 446 Broome Street, New York.

—Cheap Music. Three dollars for ten cents! Three back numbers of Church's Musical Visitor, containing over three dollars' worth of new and good music (vocal and instrumental—all grades) will be sent post-paid to any address, on receipt of ten cents. Address, John Church & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

—Locke's National Monthly for March proves to be a capital number, and shows study and marked improvement in the character of its contents. That pleasant description of "Our Orange Grove," is concluded in the March number, and is followed closely by one of Mary Hartwell's liveliest sketches, entitled "Epostolary Man." An interesting biographical sketch of the late Gerrit Smith is contributed by Mrs. Rosa L. Segur, while in "Zulieme St. Vrain" we have a southern story, with an unexpected denouement. Mrs. J. G. Burnett's story of "Frank Hunter's Sister's Governess" is quite above the average character of such productions, and the remaining contents are all readable to an unusual degree. Published by Locke & Jones, Toledo, Ohio, at $1.00 per year (postage free). Sepecimen copies sent free on application.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

GOLD 1.15

The "Herald" reports that the stock market in New York was more or less feverish, there being indications that two or three large operators were engaged in selling stocks "short." The sudden stiffening of money rates are also regarded as a part of the speculative programme and as indicative of a near and more determined contest between the leading bulls and bears. It is generally believed that the recent advance has hurt certain operators supposed to be shrewd and that in order to recover from their losses they will make strenuous endeavors to cause, in one way or another, a sharp depression. Hence much doubt is expressed in reference to the course of the market during the next week, and opinion is divided as to the issue of the impending conflict. It was remarked by more than one observant broker. "We are about to see a battle between the giants."

A bill has been introduced into the Legislature of Pennsylvania to prevent the continued violation of the usury laws, and to prevent banking institutions from charging more than six per cent interest. The proposed penalty for the violation of the law is the forfeiture of the principal and interest: one half to go to the informer and the other half to the Commonwealth. It is to be hoped that this law will pass.

Bellefonte Markets.

BELLEFONTE, March 8, 1875.

General dullness is now master of the situation, and the business of our town never so readily succumbed to his commands as now.

WHEAT.—The prices of wheat are barely maintained, but there is very little coming to town. The disposition among farmers to hold on, seems to be proverbial; but the recent snows keep the coming crops so well covered and protected, that the outlook is promising for a full crop this year, which keeps down all speculative feeling for the present.

RYE.—The crop was so small last year that it is hardly worth looking after, but the repeal of the local option law, will have a tendency to stimulate farmers, to invest largely in this cereal, provided, they are not opposed to its convertion into the ardent.

CORN.—The corn offered is about equal to the demand, but the price is the same. This, too, is an anti local option cereal, and if dealers or consumers do not get well corned before the year shall expire, it will not be the fault of the Legislature.

OATS.—Oats are becoming in more demand and as soon as license shall be granted, will be called for at the bar.

HAY.—Hay continues to be supplied as called for.

STRAW.—Straw is scarce and in demand.

Philadelphia Market Report.

Monday, March 8th, 1875.

REMARKS—The movement in trade circles during the last week has been rather sluggish, the weather having been unpropitious and unfavorable for the shipment of goods. Agricultural products of all kinks are coming forward quite freely from the West, but the impediments to river navigation check exportation to some extent.

GRAIN.—The Wheat market is decidedly better, and we put up our figures 2@3c per bushel, but the volume of business is moderate. The inquiry is mostly confined to the wants of the local millers, and the receipts and offerings are moderate. Sales of 400 bus common Pennsylvania at $1,15; 14,000 bus common and prime Western do at $1.18@1,23; 10,000 bus Amber at $1.22@1,28; and 3,600 bus White at $1,25@1.35. Receipts for the week, 35,000 bus.

CORN—Is fairly active and prices are well supported. Sales of 31,000 bus Penna. and Western Yellow at 79@80c—chiefly at 80c; 1,200 bus Delaware White at 84c; 8,600 bus Western high mixed, mostly in the cars, at 79@80½; 2,000 bus do do at 81c f. o. b.; and 50,000 bus do on secret terms. To-day the market closed firmer, and we have again advanced our quotations 2c, with sales of 5,000 Pennsylvania and Western Yellow, part in the depot and part in the Elevators, at 81, 81½@82c—closing at the latter rate; and 800 bus mixed in the Elevator, at 81 cents. Shipped to Liverpool per "Ohio," 23,300 bus. Receipts for the week, 37,000 bus.

RYE—May be quoted at 95 cents for Pennsylvania and Western. Receipts for the week, 1,500 bushels.

OATS—Are less active and lower. Sales of 16,000 bus Western White at 66½@68c; 3,800 bus do do, fancy, at 69c; and 4,600 bus do light mixed at 66c. To-day 5,600 bus Western White sold at 68@69 cents. Receipts for the week, 56,000 bushels.

SEEDS—Cloverseeds meets a less active demand. Sales of 3,000 bus good and prime Western at 10½@11½; do choice at 11½@12c; and Penna. at 9@10 cents. Tomothy is held at $2.60 2.75. Flaxseed is worth $2, and is wanted by the crushers. Orchard Grass sells $2,15@2,25.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Charles Lamb, Essayist, denounces all spirituous liquors as "Wet Damnation." Poor fellow; he knows whereof he spake, by sad experience, and if living, would apply the same to Alocholic Excitants, advertised as Curealls. But there is one Tonic and Alterative in existance—the best the world has ever known—which contains no alcohol. It is DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS. 8-4w

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A GENTLEMAN who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion will for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and direction for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. OGDEN, 42 Cedar St., New York. 50 6m

E. F. KUNKEL'S BITTER WINE OF IRON.

This truly valuable tonic has been so thoroughly tested by all classes of the community that it is now deemed indispensable as a Tonic medicine. It costs but little, purifies the blood and gives tone to the stomach, renovates the system and prolongs life. Everybody should have it.

For the cure of Weak Stomachs, General Debility, Indigestion, Diseases of the Stomach, and for all cases requiring a tonic.

The wine includes the most agreeable and efficient Salt of Iron we possess—Citrate of Magnetic Oxide, combined with the most energetic of vegetable tonics—Yellow Peruvian Bark.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?
If you do try KUNKLE'S BITTER WINE OF IRON.

I only ask a trial of this valuable tonic!

Beware of counterfeits, as Kunkel's Bitter Wine of Iron is the only sure and effectual remedy in the known world for the permanent cure of Dyspepsia and Dibility, and as there are a number of imitations offered to the public I would caution the community to purchase none but the genuine article, manufactured by E. F. Kunkle, and having his stamp on the cork of every bottle. The very fact that others are trying to imitate this valuable remedy, proves its worth and speaks volumes in its favor. Get the genuine.

Sold only in $1 bottles. Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere.

259 TAPE WORM REMOVED ALIVE 259

Head and all complete in two hours. No fee till head passes. Seat, Pin and Stomach Worms removed by Dr. E. F. Kunkle, 259 North Ninth St. Send for circular, or ask your druggist for a bottle of KUNKLE'S WORM SYRUP. It never fails. Price $1. 10-4t.

DR. SCHENCK'S STANDARD REMEDIES.

The standard remedies for all disease of the lungs are SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, and, if taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philapelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration; for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cold will throw it off, the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act on the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulent and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed, mixes with the food and prevents souring. It assists the digestion by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and the Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

All who wish to consult Dr. Schenck, either personally or by letter, can do so at his principal office, corner of SIXTH and ARCH STS., Philadelphia, every Monday.

Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggests throughout the country. 10-8t.

We received a very pleasant letter of thanks from our old friend Kendall, since his return home, for a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment which we gave him, and which he says has entirely cured him of the troublesome and dangerous cough he had when here.

On the death of one of England's most eminent physicians, all his effects were sold by auction, and among other things was a sealed packet, marked "Advice to Physicians," which brought a great price. The purchaser on opening the packet, read as follows: "Keep the head cool, the bowels open and the feet warm." If physic is necessary, use Parsons' Purgative Pills; they are the most scientifically prepared pill that has appeared in the last hundred years.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

VEGETINE

Strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

VEGETINE

Is not a vile, nauseous compound, which simply purges the bowels, but a safe, pleasant remedy which is sure to purify the blood and thereby restore the health.

VEGETINE

Is now prescribed in cases of Scrofula and other diseases of the blood, by many of the best physicians, owing to its great success in curing all diseases of this nature.

VEGETINE

Does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a ficticious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health.

VEGETINE

Was looked upon as an experiment for some time by some of our best physicians, but those most incredulous in regard to its merit are now its most ardent friends and supporters.

VEGETINE

Instead of being a puffed-up medicine has worked its way up to its present astonishing success by actual merit in curing all diseases of the blood, of whatever nature.

VEGETINE

Says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a purifyer. Hearing of its many wonderful cures after all other remedies had failed, I visited the labratory and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results."

VEGETINE

Is acknowledged and recommended by physicians and apothecaries to be the best purifier and cleanser of the blood yet discovered, and thousands speak in its praise who have been restored to health.

PROOF.

WHAT IS NEEDED.

BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and after using several bottles, was restored to health and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for these complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health. Respectfully yours,

H. R. PETTINGILL,

Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co., 10 State St. Boston.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—The two bottels of VEGETINE furnished me by your agent, my wife has used with great benefit.

For a long time she has been troubled with dizziness and costiveness; these troubles are now entirely removed by the use of VEGETINE.

She was also troubled with Dyspepsia and General Debility; and has been greatly benefited.

THOMAS GILMORE, 290½ Walnut Street.

FEEL MYSELF A NEW MAN.

NATICK, Mass., June 1st, 1872.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—Through the advice and earnest persuasion of Rev. E. S. Best, of this place, I have been taking VEGETINE for Dyspepsia, of which I have been suffering for years.

I have used only two bottles and already feel myself a new man. Respectfully,

DR. J. W. CARTER.

REPORT OF A PRACTICAL CHEMIST AND APOTHECARY.

BOSTON, Jan. 1, 1874.

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 154½ dozen (1852 bottles) of your VEGETINE since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended, that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several Scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity. Very respectfully yours,

A. I. GILMAN, 408 Broadway.

AN ORDINANCE.

To prevent the erection of stables upon the public streets of the Borough of Bellefonte.

Be it enacted by the Town Council of the Borough of Bellefonte in Town Council assembled and it is hereby Ordained and enacted by the authority of the same.

SECTION 1st.—That it shall not be lawful to erect or construct any stable, or any building to be used as a stable on the public streets of the Borough of Bellefonte.

SECTION 2nd.—Any person who shall erect or construct or cause to be erected or constructed any such stable on any of the streets of the Borough of Bellefonte, he, she or they so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offence the sum of seventy-five dollars, to be sued for and recovered in the manner that debts of like amount are by law sued for and recovered.

SECTION 3rd.—Each and every person who shall erect or construct or cause to be erected or constructed any such stable in violation of this ordinance, or who shall become the owner thereof after the same shall have been so built, and who shall omit, neglect or refuse to remove the same within thirty days after notice to that effect, shall forfeit and pay the further sum of fifty dollars, and also the sum of twenty-five dollars for every period of one month for which he, she or they shall omit, neglect or refuse to remove the same after the expiration of the notice aforesaid.

Ordained and enacted March 1, 1875.

THE ILLUSTRATED

HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE,

WITH WHICH IS INCORPORATED

WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE.

It is the intention of the conductors of this Magazine to still further make it a model of literary and mechanical excellence, and, with this view, no advantage will be neglected which either talent or capital can command to render each issue an agreeable and instructive compendium of

POPULAR READING.

Its pages will be devoted to popular literature, science, art, education and social development. Its characteristic feature is comprehensiveness. The manuscripts now on hand, and others especially engaged, embrace an usually attractive list of

DESCRIPTIVE SKETCHES OF TRAVEL,
SERIAL STORIES, TALES, POEMS,
PAPERS ON SCIENCE AND ART,
POPULAR ESSAYS, NARRATIVES, LITERARY CRITICISMS, FASHIONS, etc.,

together with a variety of able and interesting articles upon the important Questions of the Day. A large portion of the articles, especially those descriptive of travel, will be

PROFUSELY ILLUSTRATED.

The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine hereafter constituting one of its most attractive features.

The purpose of the Publishers is to furnish a periodical which shall be instructive in THE HOUSEHOLD, THE LIBRARY and THE READING ROOM, giving an abundance of entertaining and popular literature and information for both old and young, carrying light comfort and good nature into every family, and making it acceptible for the whole Household—father and mother, boys and girls, young men and young women.

THE ILLUSTRATED HOUSHOLD MAGAZINE

includes several DISTINCT DEPARTMEMTS, each under competent and efficient management, viz:

1. SKETCHES—consisting of Descriptions of Travel and Adventure, Serial Stories, Tales and Narratives, lavishly and appropriately illustrated.
2. MISCELLANY—made up of brilliant extracts from new books, highly entertaining sketches of notable persons and things from the best Foreign Publications, Poems and Papers on Science and Art.
3. EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT—in which is given brilliant essays upon a wide range of subjects; social topics discussed and current incidents and doings glanced at.
4. FASHION DEPARTMENT—containing a resume of the Paris, London and New York Fashions, illustrated with ingraving of the latest styles.
5. LETERARY NOTES—devoted to reviews and criticisms of new books and general information.
6. CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT—furnishes instruction and entertainment to the Boys and Girls, and those older people who have young hearts. It is embellished with high class illustrations of Natural History, Wonderful Scenery and rare incidents.
7. HOUSEKEEPER'S DEPARTMENT—comprising information and receipts, many of which are original and published for the first time all collected from the most authentic sources.

It will be the constant aim of the HOUSEHOLD PUPLISHING COMPANY to make THE ILLUSTRATED HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE in the future, as WOOD'S HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE has been in the past,

THE BEST DOLLAR MONTHLY PUBLISHED, sparing neither effort, trouble nor expense in securing the BEST WRITERS as contributors, and the BEST ARTISTS to produce illustrations to enrich its pages.

AGENTS WANTED.—We require a good, FAITHFUL AGENT in every town throughout the United States and Canada, who will earnestly engage in the business of procuring subscribers—not for a few days or a month only, but permanently—with a firm determination to canvass thoroughly and carefully the entire field selected, improving every opportunity to realize all that can be made from the introduction of the Magazine.

OUR PREMIUM AND CLUBBING LISTS offer great inducements for working in our behalf. Schools and Churches have here an unusual opportunity to procure Musical Instruments from the best manufacturers, with comparatively slight exertions. Artisans, Professional Men and Students may gratify their literary tastes by ordering from the Clubbing Lists. Children may earn and own many long and desired articles by obtaining the few subscribers required.

TERMS—YEARLY SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00.

Specimen Copies mailed, post-paid, to any address upon receipt of ten cents.

The postage within the United States is Ten Cents a year, which must be forwarded with the subscription, as the new Postal Law requiring the prepayment of postage on all magazines by publishers themselves, instead of subscribers, compels us to collect the postage in advance.

Send for Circulars containing rates of commission and inducements to canvassers, and the Premium and Clubbing Lists.

THE YOSEMITE VALLEY.

We continue to offer this celebrated Oil Chromo in connection with the ILLUSTRATED HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE, furnishing them to our subscribers upon the following very generous terms:

WITH MOUNTED CHROMO, $2.00. UNMOUNTED CHROMO, $1.50

The Mounted Chromo is delivered at our office, or by canvassers, or boxed and sent by express at the subscriber's expense, or sent by mail upon receipt of Twenty Cents for extra postage. The Unmounted Chromo is sent free by mail.

Agricultural.

☞ NOTE.—We earnestly desire that this department of our paper shall be made as useful as possible to our Agricultural friends, and therefore extend a cordial invitation to all parties interested, to favor us with contributions. Individuals who have made useful experiments and yet do not feel competent to write them out in form for publication, if they will favor us with the results we will take pleasure in putting them in proper shape.

THE BEST KIND OF WIFE.

MARION DERNSTEIN.

"O where shall I search for a suitable wife?"
Said Cœlebs one day, with his lantern in hand;
And searched, and he searched through the world all his life—
He hunted on sea and he hunted on land,
But he never fonnd one that would suit him—and why?
The reason is plain that he tried the wrong way.
You can all of you find a good wife if you try,
And you need not be searching all night and all day;
For this is the truth. It will yet be confessed
The best kind of wife is the lass you love best

You may marry a wife who can cook and can sew
And have all other virtues a woman can claim;
But if she can't love you you'd far better go
And wed one who knows nothing but love's gentle name.
You might marry a wife with a long pedigree,
And riches, and beauty that none could excel;
But if you don't love her, its easy to see
You'd best wed the rustic you could love too well,
For this is the truth. It will yet be confessed
The best kind of wife is the lass you love best.

All those who will marry must marry for life,
And therefore beware lest your choice should be wrong;
For where there's no love there is sure to be strife
And strife matrimonial can last very long.
But all joy will be brighter, all sorrows less deep
In the heart where a true love doth constantly dwell.
Then still let your mem'ry this true proverb keep—
'He loveth most wisely whose heart loveth well.'
For this is the truth. It will yet be confessed
The best kind of wife is the lass you love best.

Preserve the Woods.

Already reports have been received of destructive freshets in the West. Before the large accumulation of snow is removed, there is reason to believe that generally along the large rivers and their tributaries throughout the United States there will be great loss from inundations this year. What adds to the anxiety which prevails in the low-lying lands on the basis of the grand natural drainage systems of the country is that there is little which can be done speedily to prevent the fury of the floods from carrying away bridges, mills, barns and dwellings. For many years the people have been endeavoring, unconsciously no doubt, to add to the violence of frashets by cutting down the forests. It is well known that trees, when growing on slopes, serve to retard the water from melting snow, so that it finds its way slowly to the rivers, and thus thaw has not the effect of sending the whole of the snowfall of perhaps several months at once into the channels of the streams. But where the land is denuded of timber there is nothing to impede a vast volume of water being suddenly discharged into the rivers, causing them to burst their bounds and banks and carry destruction along their whole course.

Whether the next snows will or will not disappear without doing danger, the advocates of forest culture should persevere in their efforts to induce the farmars to plant as many trees as possible. The demand for timber is every year becoming greater as the population increases. There is a probability also that wood will again to a large degree recover its position as a material for shipbuilding, from which it has been driven within the last decade. Thus the country must make provision to meet the increased demand. Droughts and fierce rainfalls accompanied with violent hurricanes are believed to be of recent years much more common in this country than when the fine forest acted as guardians of the soil. It is also certain that in hot weather dense woods by condensing from the atmosphere, and liberating the winter stores of moisture from their recesses, exert a beneficent irrigating influence upon the more open and cultivated and, besides serving as a shelter from violent winds.

Thus, then, at all seasons trees are practically useful. But, surely their beauty, and the grandnur they impart to the landscape, plead powerfully in favor of their general cultivation. Private persons and societies of various kinds have begun to bestir themselves to clothe denuded districts with woods, and their success thus far has been very gratifying. Congress and State Legislature have also united in the offer of inducements to farmers and others to plant and grow forest trees. By and by, the land will have its due proportion of woods and fields; but, until then, let the trees be preserved whenever possible.

HORSE RACING AT FAIRS.

We give the following pertinent remarks on this subject by Alexander Hyde, a regular and able contributor to the New York Tribune:

Horse racing, he adds, is another side issue which was intoduced in the first place for the same purpose, and at some fairs has so encroached upon the exibition as to put the farmers and their stock and products in the background, and in some instances has driven them from the ground. There is a shadow of reason for introducing trotting at a fair as the horse is a legitimate product of the farm, and speed one of the desirable attributes of a horse; but so much being granted, we contend that the race-course is no more an ally of agriculture than that constellation in the heavens which is called the Great Bear is a component part of a farmer's stock. It is an entirely separate institution from a fair, has different laws, different associations and totally different results. The race draws a big crowd, but this crowd is not composed of farmers. When hundreds of dollars are offered for the fastest trotting horse and only $10 for the best cow, $5 for the best sheep, $3 for the best exhibition of fruit, $2 for the best butter, and $1 for the best vegetables, farmers may well conclude that their products are at a discount with the managers of fairs.

The answer is that horse-racing draws a crowd and pays; but, as recently remarked by the present President of our State Society upon this point, "If these fairs cannot be conducted without such vigorous and extraordinary aids, then it is time to consider whether their period of usefulness has not passed, and whether they had not better be less frequent, if not altogether abandoned." And the question may be mooted by our agricultural managers, whether the race does not keep away about as many as it attracts, and whether in the long run, it will not run the fair into the ground, as the farmers will come to the conclusion that they have ceased to be agricultural institutions.

Speed, justly remarks Mr. Hyde, is not the great criterion of a good horse; and what fairs should give a premium for in this department is a good farm horse worth $200 or $300, one that can draw a plow all day, and eat and sleep well at night; that can move on the road at the rate of five or six miles an hour, for four or five successive hours, without excessive fatigue. Neither the owner nor the spectator gains anything by this forced 2:40 speed; it is a mere momentary spurt, and for its production an amount of training is required, which no farmer can afford; and for those who are alone interested in the track performances, there are other times and opportunities presented especially devoted to this kind of sport.

DOGGING, rapidly chasing, beating or frightening milk cows not only greatly reduces the quantity of milk, but careful investigation has demonstrated that they seriously injure the healthy quality of the same.

THE BEECHER TRIAL—A SIDE ISSUE.—While the parties in interest seem to be having a good time in court, hand-shaking, interchange of salutations and an occasional burst of laughter, there are many homes in and around New York that are filled with dismay while the trial goes on. In one of the wealthiest homes on Murray Hill there is a young lady nearly crazed with the incidental mention of her name in connection with this case. She is very talented, beautiful, the idol of her home and her friends. She took a deep interest in the woman question in its early stages, more from the impulses of a benevolent nature than from the desire to be prominant. She thought there ought to be some opening for women who had brains and talent, and in this movement, she thought she saw some chance to elevate her sex. She had no idea where this thing would drift, nor what sentiments would be agitated under pretense of elevating woman. She got out of the company as soon as possible, but having touched pitch she was defiled. The thoughtless use of her name in court has filled her with terror, and she weeps day and night lest the threat be carried out of putting her on the stage.—Boston Journal.

THE ladies of California have presented petitions to the United States Senate desiring that an amendment enforcing prohibitation of the importation, manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors be added to the United States Constitution. These appeals were of course referred to the Committee on Finance, and probably this will be the last action taken upon them. But the day will come when the Government of this country may see the wisdom of doing what these ladies have just desired, and thus at one stroke diminish vice and crime, render the task of government, State and national, infinitely easier than at present, divert a vast capital from a harmful trade into beneficial industries, and secure the return of a large revenue, unstained by sin, sufficient for all legislalative and executive expenditure by direct taxation.

THE United States is honored in passing the Civil Rights bill, so far as it goes. We cannot imagine what its opponents regard as the meaning of the phrase—"A republican form of government," if the rights of all the inhabitants are not included in it. There may be limitations in the political rights of classes, such as exclusion from the suffrage of aliens, minors, and some others, but we cannot imagine either in a constitutional monarchy or a republic, any proper limitation of the civil rights of any class whatever, except imprisoned criminals.

POVERTY.—It is not proverty so much as pretense that harrasses a ruined man—the struggle betweep a proud man and an empty purse—the keeping up a shallow show that must soon come to an end. Have the courage to appear poor, and you disarm poverty of its sharpest sting.

THE Maine Legislature has passed a bill providing that women may be qualified to solomnize marriages, administer oaths and acknowledge deeds. It is the first step that costs. Still more comprehensive measures will follow presently.

IT is said that two Wabash avenue lovers will sit up half the night with only one chair in the room, but that is easily explained to any one who has been there.

ALL the axes and buck-saws found in the ruins of Pompeii are of light make, as if constructed for woman's use. Those old ancients knew their little business.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is [at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will present the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

Full directions accompany each bottle, and it they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranteed. Price $2.00 per bottle.

THE CHEROKEE INJECTION, should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.

CHEROKEE CURE

for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHEROKEE PILLS.

These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,

OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.

NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.

NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.

STAINLESS.—While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.

THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM

OR WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.

WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.

TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.

CONSUMPTION.—The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.

T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.

G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.

We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

EGYPTIAN

Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.

ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.

KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.

SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.

HOLLOWAY'S

Pills and Ointment

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PHYSICIAN.

THE GRAND PRINCIPLE that operates in these wonderful medicines is the power that they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Limbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ringworms, Salt Rheums, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetter, Ulcers, Venereal sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of the Pulminary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each bottle has the Holloway and Co. trade mark on it.

Price, 25cts., 62cts., and $1.00; great saving in buying large sizes.

MEDICAL.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the tranegressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.

It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their

GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.

The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

AT PRIVATE SALE.

A valuable farm containing 215 acres, situate within one mile of Milesburg, and three miles of Bellefonte, at the junction of the Bald Eagle Valley and Snow Shoe railroads, near the depot, Schools, Churches, Post office, Mills, etc. The lands are FREE from STONE, level, well fenced, and under a good state of cultivation. A valuable vein of

LIME STONE ROCK

is on the farm, and a village is growing up around it, which gives a fair prospect of an increase in value before long. The Philipsburg turnpike runs through it for a distance of ¾ of a mile rendering a large strip on each side available for house lots, from which the entire price of the farm might be realised, lots having sold heretofore for $100 apiece. The farm is well watered, having water in all the fields, good wells at the house and barn with pumps all in good order. There also are 50 acres of good

PINE AND OAK TIMBER.

The land has a southern exposure and is therefore very early. There are two houses on the farm, both facing the turnpike. One containing five rooms on the first floor with Hall and five on the second and back Kitchen, with room over-head. Connected with this house is a good log barn, ice house and other out buildings. On the other side of the road is the other house containing eight rooms with good barn and out buildings. This farm could be divided into two parts, and will be if purchasers so desire, making one containing 130 acres with the large house, and the other containing 36 acres with the small house. Terms easy. Inquire of James L. Sommerville, or R. T. Downing, or at the office of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN.

HAVE YOU TRIED

JURUBEBA?

ARE YOU

Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alternative known."

Ask your druggist for it.

ELAINE

AS AN ILLUMINATOR.

WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

DR. BELLS SPECIFIC REMEDIES have stood the test of thirty years, and are still unequaled for their great efficacy in curing all diseases of the Urino-General system arising from youthful indiscretion or imprudent habits.

YOUTH, MANHOOD, AND OLD AGE are alike benefitted by them, and a cure may confidently be expected in all cases of Nervous Debility and Depression, Gravelly Deposits, Pains and Irritations, Seminal Weakness, Emissions, Discharges, and other Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, conditions arising from one and the same cause.

These remedies can be used without detection, as they never nauseate the stomach, or interfere with diet, or business pursuits.

Trial boxes, properly secured from observation, will be sent by mail, on receipt of ONE DOLLAR—pamphlet containing full particulars, sent on receipt of stamp. Address,

A WOMAN'S VIEWS OF IT.

Read the lecture of Miss Anna E. Dickinson, delivered in New York, March 5th, 1875, on the "Social Evil," which will appear in the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN of March 24th. This lecture was delivered in Miss Dickinson's well-known forcible and eloquent manner, and lost none of its significance by its reference to the celebrated Beecher-Tilton Scandal.

In speaking of the lecture the New York Tribune says: Miss Dickinson's remarkable lecture, seems to belong to the time and suit its temper. What she has to say is not what we are accustomed to expect from a young woman; but she says it with all her accustomed eloquence, and with a force and pungency which cannot be questioned.

Extra numbers of the REPUBLICAN will be furnished if ordered at once. Price sent by mail six cents a copy, or furnished from the office at usual price.

EDWARD T. TUTEN.

——Money hoarding in anticipation of April first has already commenced.

——The back bone of him who hunts for a joke in the Gazette & Bulletin, sighs in vain for the elasticity of its youth.

——Mr. F. W. Cryder, of Lock Haven, lately purchased the Laubach farm near Hublersburg, this county, for ten thousand dollars.

——Mr. W. R. Jenkins has purchased a third interest in the Duncan Foundry and Machine Shops, and will shortly return to Bellefonte.

——We see it stated in the Watchman, that Dr. C. F. Lytle of Harris township has returned from Bellevue Hospital, N. Y. City, and is about to begin practice. Success!

——Subscribers changing their post office address this Spring should not fail to notify us so that there will be no difficulty about sending the REPUBLICAN to the proper address.

——Capt. A. Tyhurst has become a partner of C. W. S. Jones, in the publication of the Tyrone Herald. With two captains at the helm, the Herald ought to glide along serenely.

——The Local Editor of the REPUBLICAN is not furnishing a column of "witticisms," under an assumed name, the Local Editor of the "Watchman" to the contrary notwithstanding. Life is too short.

——W. K. Alexander, member of the lower house from this county, voted against the repeal of the Local Option law, and there are a great many Democrats who are now sorry that they voted for him.

——Another general thaw set in on Saturday, the snow and ice melting so rapidly, that an superabundance of water caused quite a flood in the streams of the neighborhood. The various streams were bank full, but the raise being gradual, the accumulation of water ran off rapidly and no damage of consequence ensued.

——The name of Sechler & Co., has become synonimous with fair dealing and general satisfaction. They continue to make daily addition to their stock and they are instant in season and out of season, in their efforts to give satisfaction to all. There is no better place to buy groceries and provisions than at Sechler & Co's, in Bush House block.

——The next Institute of the Spring and Benner township Sabbath School Association will be held in the M. E. Church at Pleasant Gap on next Friday afternoon and evening, addresses will be made by Prof. Hamilton, President of the County Association, Rev's. Lilly, Crittenden, Hartsock and others. Friends of Sunday schools are invited.

——Centre County took on a little more snow on Sunday last, and the public will be startled by the announcement that we are to have ten more snows yet, before winter closes out. This information is reliable as it comes from the lips of a man who has spent a long life time in the study of meteorology. We are beginning to think that the changing seasons will soon be six months winter and the balance mighty late in the spring.

THE OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER.—There are a great number of us old stagers whose hearts begin to weaken when we call to mind the dear old face and well remembered voice of our old-fashioned mother. There are plenty of us who will appreciate the following tribute to her memory:

Thank God some of us have had an old-fashioned mother. Not a woman of the period, enameled and painted, with her great chignon, her curls, and bustle, whose white, jewelled hands never felt the clasp of baby's fingers; but a dear, old-fashioned, sweet-voiced mother, with eyes in whose clear depths the love light shone, and brown hair just threaded with silver lying smooth upon her faded cheek. Those dear hands, worn with toil, gently guided tottering steps in childhood, and smoothed our pillow in sickness, even reaching out to us in yearning tenderness. Blessed is the memory of an old fashioned mother. It floats to us now, like the beautiful perfume from some wooded blosoms. The music of other voices may be lost, but the entrancing memory of her will echo in our souls forever.

Other faces may fade away and be forgotten, but hers will shine on.

When in the fitfull pauses of busy life our feet wander back to the old home-stead, and, crossing the well-worn threshhold, stand once more in the room so hallowed by her presence and dependence comes over us, and we kneel down in the molten sunshine, streaming through the open window—just where long years ago we knelt by our mother's knee, lisping "Our Father." How many times when the tempter lured us on, has the memory of those sacred hours, that mother's words, her faith and prayers, saved us from plunging into the deep abyss of sin. Years have filed great drifts between her and us, but they have not hidden from our sight the glory of her pure, unselfish love.

THE BEST PIG EVER RAISED IN PENNSYLVANIA.—Col. John A. Woodward, the present president of the Centre County Agricultural Society, claims the credit of having bred, fed and slaughtered on his farm in Howard township, the best pig in the state.

Mr. Woodward withholds the name of the breed and method of fattening, but the data of this Cyclopean porker is as follows: At the county fair, last fall, the animal was on exibition in the "fat pig" class and won a premium. Since that time, Mr. Woodward has spent his best energies in making him fatter. On Wednesday last he was killed, at which time he was exactly 336 days old. His weight before killing was 448 pounds; and his dressed weight (i. e. cleaned and ready for market) was 417 pounds. Now, if our arithmetic is correct, he furnished 1 lb., 3 6-7 ounces—or in other words—1 1-4 lbs, lacking 1-7 of an ounce, of meat, for each and every day of his existence; while he lost in killing and cleaning, less than (7) seven per cent. This is a result so remarkable that its veracity might be questioned by some, but the facts as above stated can be abundantly verified. With the above showing, we believe that Mr. Woodward is justified in claiming to have bred the best pig ever raised in Pennsylvania, at least until somebody comes forward and shows better figures. Now let us hear a squeal from other scientific pork growers.

O. U. A. M.—This flourishing order gave an oyster supper in their rooms on Wednesday evening last. A large number of invited guests was present and the occasion was an unusually pleasant one. The ladies prepared the tables and we boldly assert that there are no ladies anywhere, who can excel the wives and daughters of the members of the order of American Mechanics in Bellefonte, in the culinary art. Those tables were a sight to make a hungry man leap for joy. The evening was spent in doing justice to the repast, and the Mechanics seemed strangely conscientious about doing their duty. Not a man faltered; all came boldly up to the work, and the unanimous verdict of the ladies at the close, was "well done." Speeches followed and a general intermingling and exchanges of good-fellowship. It was a pleasant occasion and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

——It was a difficult matter for any body, living along the lower end of High street, to sleep last Wednesday night. A lot of full grown boys were howling, in drunken revelry, all night long. They wandered about the streets, here and there, and if the police were not dead or out of town they could not have have failed to hear them. A bad egg from Milesburg, and several young men from town who are making a serious record for themselves, hatched up the disturbance that occurred in the fore part of the evening in a tobacco store. Some of the drunken parties were yelling on the streets during the greater part of Thursday forenoon. If they had been some poor fellows from the country who had come to town and made half the disturbance that these parties did, ten chances to one, they'd been arrested Somebody is to blame.

——The passenger cars on the Snow Shoe railroad are being repainted and fixed up generally.

——John Goss, an old man residing at Tuckaboe, near Tyrone, committed suicide the other day because he imagined his soul was lost.

——There is hardly a house in the land that has not a Sunday school library book that ought to have been returned months ago.

——It is an acknowledged fact that the best 5 and 10 cent cigars in town are at Green's Drug Store, also genuine Key West and Imported cigars—Try them. 8-4t.

——A traveling phrenologist lately lectured in Pennsvalley; the lecture yielded him the magnificent sum of thirty-five cents, and the audience thought was well paid.

——If those precocious "Gazette & Bulletin" fellows don't quit disturbing our rest, with their smart flings, we'll call up our friend Bierly, late of the "Register," and get him to talk them to death.

——J. Miles Green, of Milesburg, in addition to his titles, "Captain" and "Justice of the Peace," has been honored with another—"Chief Burgess." Now, if he would only get married, what a useful husband and citizen he would become!

BELLEFONTE & SNOW SHOE RAIL ROAD.—Until further notice there will be no passenger car attached to the train leaving Bellefonte for Snow Shoe at 8.10 A.M. and from Snow Shoe to Bellefonte at 2.35 P. M. DANIEL RHOADS, Feb. 25th, 1875. Superintendent.
7-9-3t

——It is estimated this morning that the "leading citizens" of Lock Haven have an intense municipal head-ache. But the banquet given to the new proprietors of the Fallon House was a grand success, and Jack Schuyler, landlord, deserves great credit and ample patronage.

——On the South side of High street, on Saturday afternoon last, a couple of ladies stopped to spill a little gossip, but were interrupted by a slide of snow from an overhanging roof, which almost deluged them, and disturbed their toilets so much that they had to go home for repairs.

——A Montana paper thinks there is an awful fuss over the Beecher trial. "Why," it says, "right out here is Bill Casey. He went into a family, married one girl, broke 'nother's heart, and has ran away with the third; and yet there is no trial, no statements, no nothing, only just the old man with a rifle looking 'round after Bill."

——It would hardly be fair to suppose that the author of the "Bellefonte Budget" in last Wednesday's "Gazette & Bulletin," who has spent the last thirty years of his life in writing and telling lies, because it is his nature and he couldn't help it, would misrepresent anything in regard to the late municipal election held in this place. Certainly not!

CHANGE OF DATE.—The public sale of stock and farming implements of Mr. James Zimmerman below Milesburg, has been postponed one day—from March 24th, to Thursday, March 25th. This change is made on account of Samuel S. Homan's sale having been previously fixed for the 24th. Farmers, in fixing on a day of sale, will do well to consult our sale register.

——At the annual election of the Murdoch Literary Society, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:

President—W. B. Rankin.
Vice President—E. F. Garman.
Secretary—C. L. Pownell.
Assistant Secretary and Treasurer—J. E. Funkhouser.
Librarian—E. A. Smith.
Trustees—Dr. E. I. Kirk, E. A. Smith.
Editors of "Pioneer"—N. S. Bailey, C. F. Cook.

C. F. POWNELL,
Secretary.

——The Bellefonte Fish Association, on Saturday last, turned the second instalment of fifteen thousand trout into Spring creek and Logan's branch. This makes 25,000 trout deposited into these waters within the last month. They were hatched at the Valentine fish ponds. The fish company will enforce the laws for the protection of fish most stringently, and all offenders are hereby warned.

——Owing to the prevailing low price of wheat, but comparatively little grain is being brought to market at present, many of the farmers being so pecuniarily situated that they can afford to store it away in granaries and await an advance in price. Thousands of bushels of grain in this county are thus held back in anticipation of better prices, which is one great reason why there is such a dearth of money.

——Dr. Wm. P. Rothrock, of Beech Creek, Clinton county, has purchased the valuable farm of Mr. Daniel Leydon, in Benner township, and will shortly remove to this county with the intention of making it his future home. Doctor R. has been in active practice for a great many years and proposes to retire in the Spring and devote himself to agricultural pursuits. As the Doctor is the owner of a number of fox hounds, hunting horses, Enfield rifles and other like accoutrements, we rather suspect he will not neglect some of the sports of country gentlemen. We welcome him to Centre county.

AGRICULTURAL.—The Executive Committee of the Centre County Agricultural Society, met at the office of General Beaver, on Monday, March 5th, 1875, all the members being present.

The Premium list of the previous year after being discussed and amended in some important particulars, was adopted for the ensuing exhibition, and Messrs Woodward, Beaver and Keller, were appointed a sub-committee on publication.

The following Superintendents of Departments were selected.

1st Dept—Stock—John Bishel of Potter.
2nd " Agricultural and Horticultural Products—Samuel B. Leathers of Howard.
3rd " Agricultural Implements, Manufactured Articles, and Mechanics—George Dale of Benner.
4th or Home Dept—Mrs. Mary B. J. Valentine of Spring.
5th Dept—Trials of Speed and Amusements—Thomas A. Hicks of Bellefonte.

The changes in the Premium List are too numerous to be specified in this notice, but it is the intention of the Committee on publication to have the List ready for distribution at the April Court, which will afford ample notice to all who wish to compete.

The increased interest manifested in last year's exhibition, despite the unfavorable weather, conclusively demonstrates that no backward step will be taken and the Committee appeal with confidence to the people of the County to join in making the exhibition of 1875, a better one than any which have preceded it.

With a greater experience and an enlarged circle of workers, alive both to their own interests and those of the whole community, systematic united effort is all that is needed to make the annual Fair of Centre County second to none in the Srate.

The co-operation of all, whether personally appealed to by the Superintendents of Departments or not, is earnestly solicited.

FAMILY REUNION.—On Saturday, February 6th, a family reunion was held at Zion, this county by the relatives of Mrs. Elizabeth Gebhard, relict of the late Henry Gebhard. This aged and estimable lady has reached the advanced age of seventy years, yet she enjoys pretty good health for one so old. On the day of the reunion there gathered around her a large number of her posterity. The whole number of the family connection, including children, grand children and great-grand-children is seventy three; of these fifty were present at the reunion: eleven children, seven of whom had their respective husbands or wives with them; thirty-two grandchildren; and two great-grand-children. The reunion was an interesting day in their family history, and was spent very pleasantly. Mrs. Gebhard has been a member of the Evangelical church for the last thirty-two years.

——We didn't know till yesterday that one of the speediest and best workmen in our office, is the son of the King's Surveyor in the State of Bavaria. Franz Joseph Miller has, for a number of years, held the appointment of Surveyor to King Ludwig, II., of Bavaria, which after Prussia is the largest state in the German Confederation. About two years ago his son, Mr. Robert A. Miller, was taken with the "American fever" and left college and parents to seek his fortune in this country. When he arrived in New York about eighteen months ago, he could not speak a word of English, but in drifting around through the country, he acquired a good knowledge of our language and can set type about as rapidly as anybody. He is a first class young man and has a bright future before him.

——The Watchman again does us injustice. It says that a private citizen of the West ward does the fighting for the REPUBLICAN. This is injustice to the local hereof, who has that contract himself. Of course we don't agree to settle all disputes arising between the municipal authorities of Philadelphia and Bellefonte, but for anything in our own legitimate line of business, call at the office. Lots of people say they take an interest in this paper, but they don't contribute excitement to its columns. Our friend and fellow citizen above referred to is not one of that kind.

——The Gazette & Bulletin wants us to inform them who Mark Twain is. Yes sir, certainly: Mark Twain is a humorist who never produces abortions on the English language; he can see a joke and write it up without plastering it over an entire page of a newspaper the size of the G. & B.; he don't go over the country fishing for compliments; and he knows that there are a great many shallow mud-puddles, if the bottom is out of sight.

——A certain school teacher remarked, on reading a communication which appeared in this paper a few weeks ago, "that if he had a boy fifteen years old who could not write a better article, he would cow-hide him." If school teachers were to be cowhided in proportion to their incompetency, the above pedantic individual would not have skin enough left upon him to make moccosins for a plea.

——We are now receiving Cayuga Plaster finely ground ready for use, which is guaranteed to be as good a fertilizer as the white or Nova Scotia plaster, which we will sell at $9.50 per ton of 2000 lbs. SHORTLIDGE & Co.

——The temperance people of Philipsburg in mass meeting, on Thesday evening of last week, "Resolved that the local option law has not been a failure."

——The Reporter attacks the Watchman for abusing the Pennsvalley Democracy; and the latter says Kurtz once took a bribe of fifty dollars for not publishing a dog story. Kurtz now threatens to make a "statement."

——Daniel Rhoads, Esq., has lately purchased a splendid carriage horse from James P. Coburn, Esq., of Aaronsburg, and the latter, wanting something more sudden, bought a fleet, blooded animal from A. S. Valentine, Esq.

——Ann Eliza, Brigham Young's 19th concubine, won't lecture for the Philipsburgers, but she is getting $500 per month alimony for support of herself and two children, which is about as severe on Brig. as her lectures.

——Rev. W. H. Norcross had an engagement to lecture on Astronomy at Pleasant Gap, last evening. We have no doubt he handled the subject ably, as he is a talented young Methodist preacher, and preachers ought to understand thoroughly the geography of the heavens.

FIRE.—The Baptist church of Philipsburg was slightly damaged by fire on Sunday evening, occasioned by a defective flue. The walls were injured somewhat by tearing away wainscoting and plastering to get at the fire. Insured.

——Representative Shugert returned home on Saturday, spent the Sabbath with his family and returned to the seat of Justice on Monday. His health has considerably improved within the last week or two, but his recent illness has left its unmistakable traces.

——Court opened on Monday afternoon, Judge Orvis on the bench, with Judges Love and Dopp as collateral ornaments. Business has been carried on as usual, but we are unable to give proceedings in this number. Next week they will be published in full as usual.

——Thomas Smith, of Competition, Laclede county, Missouri, requests us to say that $100 reward will be paid for satisfactory information of Samuel Simpson and Catharine, his wife, or their estate. They were parents of William and James Simpson who ran off to Missouri at an early day. Address as above.

——From the fact that W. K. Alexander was P. Gray Meek's candidate for the Legislature was a sufficient guarantee that he was in favor of the repeal of the local option law. Many of our town voters 'went it blind' and are now consoling themselves that their friend Meek has made his five hundred and forty-ninth sale!

——Our friend "Jonny" Powers knows how to satisfy the public demand in the boot and shoe line. It makes no difference what kind, quality or price of boots or shoes is wanted, Powers always has them, bound to fit and give satisfaction, or money refunded. The celebrated Edwin C. Burt shoes for misses and ladies are everywhere considered the best manufactured. They are very handsome and serviceable, and are the universal favorite of the ladies.

——Bellefonte is to have her share of Evangelistic meetings. We hear that Mr. Taggert of Pittsburgh, a man who has taken part in those great meetings of young men in East Pittsburgh, will be here next Friday and commence a series of services.

On Friday evening at seven o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms a young men's prayer meeting will be held; on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock a meeting for young men and women, and at 7 o'clock gospel service both in the Presbyterian church to which they invite everybody. On Sunday morning at nine o'clock, the young men again meet for prayer in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 3½ o'clock in the afternoon, a young people's meeting at the church, closing with farewell services in the church at six o'clock.

THE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—The board of managers of the Bellefonte Library Association met in the room of the Town Council on Tuesday evening, March 2nd, Governor Curtin in the chair. The committee consisting of Isaac Mitchell, Adolph Loeb and D. H. Hastings, to frame by-laws for the government of the association, reported. The by-laws were read, amended and adopted.

Isaac Mitchell, Esq., was nominated for treasurer of the Association, but declined to serve. On motion of John Irwin, Jr., Mr. M. Montgomery was unanimously elected treasurer to serve for the ensuing year. The board then adjourned to meet on Friday evening, March 5th, at which adjourned meeting the following committees were announced:

EXECUTIVE.—Daniel Rhoads, Daniel S. Keller and James L. Sommerville.

FINANCE—Adolph Loeb, William P. Wilson, Daniel H. Hastings.

BOOKS AND PAPERS.—Isaac Mitchell, Adam Hoy, James A. Beaver.

SUPPLIES.—E. C. Humes, John Irwin, Jr., Edmund Blanchard.

All committees are to serve one year except the first named, which is to serve for one month.

The committee on employees reported applications for the position of Librarian from three different parties. The committee was instructed to receive additional applications, and report at next meeting. The committee consists of Messrs. Daniel Rhoads, E. C. Humes and D. S. Keller. Applications should be made in writing and addressed to any member of said committee. Adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

D. H. HASTINGS,
Secretary.

STRANGE BUT TRUE.—It is natural for people suffering with Consumption, Coughs, Severe Colds, or any other disease of the Throat and Lungs, to put off from day to day buying an article that they know has cured their neigbor, friend, or relative, yet they have no faith in it until it is too late. If you will go to your Druggist, F. P. Green, and get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, your immediate cure is as certain as you live. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and Druggists and people everywhere are elated over its success. You can get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size bottle 75 cents.

SPRINGLESS TRUSSES AND SUPPORTERS.—Dr. G W Hotchkiss has consented finally by the most earnest solicitation of citizens of this locality to visit as follows: Lock Haven, Irvin House, March 24 & 25, Bellefonte, Brockerhoff House, 26, 27 & 28; Frenchville, Mulson House, 29 & 30. Dr. Hotchkiss has visited this State professionally before and is well and favorably known. His trusses and supporters have given the best satisfaction. The truss has no springs or hard metalic substance; it can be worn night and day and by so doing the rupture heals. There are persons in Bradford County, this state, who have been healed under Dr. Hotchkiss' treatment. Therefore all persons afflicted with hermia should avail themselves of the opportunity because he is truly a good Samaritan in his profession. Dr. H's Post Office address is No. 145. Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y. Send stamp for circular and read testimonials. 9-3t

——Two additional trains says the Journal have been put upon the T. & C. R. R., and it has been found necessary to run a night train to move the coal, the production of which is on the increase. The strikes in the anthracite regions have increased largely the demand for bituminous coal, and the Philipsburg region is reaping some of the benefits.

——Sunday's snow measured eleven inches in depth on Monday morning, and seriously inpaired business in town all Monday forenoon. The morning trains came in late and carried few passengers. One train had just twice as many engines attached to it as passengers, there being two of the former.

——Our young friend Mr. Herman Haupt, of this place, has gone to Curwensville where he intends opening a Tobacco store, News depot and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods establishment. Mr. Haupt is a young man of most excellent habits and fine business qualities, and is bound to succeed any where. We commend him to the good people of Curwensville and hope they will give him a generous patronage.
